

President Takes Day Off From His European Jaunt

Trip Thus Far Looked Upon as Personal, Political Triumph

London —(AP)— President Eisenhower took a rest from diplomacy today, his European tour so far a triumph both politically and personally.

From both sides of the Iron Curtain came signs that Eisenhower's mission to thaw the ice of the cold war was bringing results.

In Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer made an unexpected gesture of conciliation and friendship to Poland, largest of the East European communist satellites.

The crusty German leader broadcast a message of peace and friendship to the Poles on the eve of the 20th anniversary of Hitler's attack on Poland.

In Russia, Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev made an unusual declaration of trust in Eisenhower.

No Differences
"The president of the United States realizes the main thing now is to ensure peace," Khrushchev said. "In this we have no differences."

In Britain, Eisenhower's initiative on the peace front coupled with his vigorous appearance apparently had removed fears that America was fumbling the free world's leadership.

His talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan over except for social meetings, the president planned to spend today on routine White House business which has piled up since he left Washington last week.

Note of Warmth
The new note of warmth in West Germany's approach to the communist east was attributed in part at least to Eisenhower's influence. In talking with Adenauer in Bonn last week, the president urged a forward looking approach in dealing with the communists. The following day Adenauer wrote in conciliatory tone to the Soviets asserting that no one in the West German government wants revenge on the communist east for Germany's territorial losses at the end of the war.

Eisenhower and Macmillan ended their talks with a fire-side chat before the TV cameras, something unprecedented in European politics. The president's appearance won high praise from British newspapers.

Proxmire Wins Delay In Consideration of Durfee Nomination

Washington —(AP)— Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., today secured a delay in senate committee consideration of the nomination of James R. Durfee, now chairman of the civil aeronautics board, to be a judge of the U.S. Court of Claims.

Proxmire said he wants time to investigate the nominee, a native of Wisconsin. Durfee was nominated to a vacancy on the 5-judge court of claims a week ago by President Eisenhower.

Proxmire said Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the judiciary committee, agreed to his request that a hearing originally scheduled for Wednesday be put off until after the first of the year.

Society Page Features New Paris Fashions

The designs of Paris fashion houses set the pace. Quite often they are too extreme for American tastes, but they have an effect on general styling.

Today's Post-Crescent carries photos of the latest Paris originals that will have a bearing on what the lady of the house will be wearing this year and on the fall fashions she will see in the Fall Fashion Revue edition and Show in Appleton on Sept. 15 and 16. Turn to Page A-12 for a look at the latest Paris creations.

Try Again to Put Off Final Diversion Vote

Proxmire Heading Move to Send Bill Back to Committee

Washington —(AP)— Senators opposing a bill to permit Chicago to take more water from Lake Michigan planned today to make another try at putting off a final vote until next year.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., one of the more vocal enemies of the bill, said there is a good chance the bill can be sent to the senate foreign relations committee for further study.

Three Votes
A move to do this failed by only five votes, 46-41, Monday on the fifth day of senate debate. Proxmire said he would not foreclose the possibility of trying it once again.

"A switch of three senate votes would do it right now," he told a newsman. "If necessary we might make more than one attempt to send the bill to foreign relations."

Proxmire said the move "is not an attempt to kill the bill. The committee would be directed to report back to the senate by April 1, and I am

Predict 450 Road Deaths Over Holiday

Chicago —(AP)— The National Safety Council estimated today that traffic accidents might kill 450 persons during next weekend's 3-day Labor Day holiday.

The estimate, covering 78 hours from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, is 30 higher than the actual toll for Labor Day weekend last year.

The council said virtually all the 71 million motor vehicles in the United States are expected to be on the road, rolling up about seven billion miles of travel, during the weekend.

While posting its expectation of 450 deaths, the council said, "it is entirely reasonable to hope that the toll can be held far below such a figure and, in fact, close to the toll of 360 immediate deaths that would be expected for a 3-day non-holiday weekend at this time of year."

School Makes Polio Shots Mandatory for All Its Youngsters

New Haven, Conn. —(AP)— The New Haven board of education has approved mandatory polio shots for all school children.

The board's action yesterday came during a day in which four new cases were reported in the city.

The new cases were not among the statewide total of 52 reported by the state health department for August. The total for August 1958 was 39 more than for August 1957.

His mother, Mrs. Katherine Provost, Ontario, Calif., received the last word on a postcard mailed Aug. 16 at West Yellowstone.

The 13 includes Dr. Merle Edgerton and wife, Edna, and Harmon Woods and wife, all of Coalinga, Calif., who were traveling together. Dr. Edgerton failed to return for appointments with patients a week after the quake. Relatives consider all four dead.

9 Bodies Recovered
Only nine bodies were recovered from the fringes of the death-dealing slides. The 19 missing are presumed to be buried in the mass of rock, timber and earth.

The six previously listed as presumed dead were Mrs. Thomas Stowe of Sandy, Utah, whose husband's body was recovered; Mr. and Mrs. Sydney D. Ballard and son, Christopher, Nelson, B. C., and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Boynton, Billings, Mont.

Atom Spy Given New Post in East Germany
Berlin —(AP)— Communist East Germany has made Klaus Fuchs, scientist spy, a deputy director of its Central Institute for Nuclear Physics near Dresden.

The official East German news agency ADN announced this appointment last night for the man whose betrayal of British and American atomic secrets to Russian agents hastened the development of a Soviet atomic bomb.

India Facing Crisis as Military Leaders Quit

The Small Village of Devol in southern Oklahoma was little more than a scene of rubble today after a tornado smashed through it Sunday night. Only a few houses on the outskirts escaped damage. Ray Page, state safety commissioner who inspected the damage, said the disaster probably would mark the end of Devol as a town. It once had an oil boom population of 10,000, but had dwindled down to 100. The damage is estimated at $200,000.

Ike Hints at Special Session If Bond Ceiling Is Not Lifted

Washington —(AP)— President Eisenhower has told Republican leaders he may call congress back into special session this fall if it fails to lift the interest ceiling on government bonds.

The president also has made it clear to the party chieftains he will consider such a session call if congress cuts foreign aid funds below what he regards as a minimum level for national security.

The possibility of presidential action came to light as leaders of both parties gave up hope of winding up the current sessions this week.

Possible Date
Democratic strategists were setting Sept. 12 as the earliest possible date for an adjournment — without any action on the interest rate issue. Republicans were saying that congress may still be in session when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives Sept. 15 for a visit.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois took pains yesterday to squash a proposal by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) that congress recess before Khrushchev's arrival and come back in October.

Eisenhower's concern over the bill will go to the house rules committee tomorrow. It is expected to be approved by the house Thursday or Friday.

The measure would increase the 3-cent federal gasoline tax one penny for 22 months.

Highway financing legislation is one of the few remaining blocks in the way of congressional adjournment.

Chairman Charles A. Buckley (D-NY) of the public works committee predicted house passage, but said there might be trouble with the senate.

Rubber, Glass, Meat Packing Nation's Labor Picture Brightens As Three Major Strikes are Averted

New York —(AP)— The nation's wage settlement giving 24,000 reached agreement on a ten-year labor picture, darkened by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber strike, brightened today as the Goodyear strike was averted.

The settlement must be ratified by a majority of locals Monday night as strike dead-end representing a majority of the lines neared in the rubber, union's membership in the glass and meat packing industries. They ended possible contracts, which expired at walkouts of more than 100,000 midnight Monday, provided workers. Already idled by the for straight time hourly wages steel strike are a half million of $2.61.

The Goodyear settlement could set a pattern in the rubber industry. Wage talks are under way between the union and U. S. Rubber in Cincinnati.

Brighter Side
Also on the brighter side were the ending of two strikes involving more than 5,000 and Goodrich in Canton, Ohio, workers and the 24-hour postponement of a threatened workers' walkout against Pan American meat packing industry.

Unconfirmed Report Says Resignations Prompted by Row With Defense Head

New Delhi —(AP)— India, beset by red Chinese aggressive moves, was thrown into crisis today by reports that the heads of all three of India's military services were resigning in a row with defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon.

Top governing congress party leaders in parliament said they had heard Menon had given Prime Minister Nehru a letter containing his own resignation and giving Nehru a free hand to deal with the situation.

The report of the resignations was carried by a newspaper.

The service chiefs are: Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Vice Adm. R. D. Katari, and air force chief, Gen. Marshal S. Mukherji.

There was no immediate official confirmation of either report.

The speaker of the lower house refused to permit debate on the report until Nehru could be present. Nehru went to the airport today for a brief meeting with Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan, and it was indicated he would not appear in parliament until tomorrow. Although Menon was in the house, he refused to say if the report were true. He said he had discussed it with Nehru and the prime minister wished to deal with it himself.

Menon Katari

Nelson to Sign Bill Increasing Aid to Schools

Madison —(AP)— Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today he would sign a bill which provides $17 million more during the biennium for educational aids.

He said he would affix his signature as soon as the measure reaches his desk.

The governor said he was breaking his rule of not stating in advance how he will act on bills because George Watson, state superintendent of public instruction, informed him that school boards, preparing budgets for the school year, wanted to know whether they could plan for the increased aids provided in the measure.

Texans Facing New Tax Levies

Austin, Texas —(AP)— Texans begin paying the largest tax bill in the state's history today as more than $73 million in new levies go into effect.

Cigaretts will cost 35 cents in most coin machines. Those who just like a good cigar now and then find the regular 10 cent stogie now costs 12 cents.

Sales taxes levied on items for the first time include boats and motors, furs, precious stones, perfume, hotel and motel rooms and air conditioners.

Arrangements also were made by two other major firms, Swift and company, and Wilson and company, for further contract talks at Chicago today with the two unions.

A scheduled strike at midnight Monday was delayed by some 2,000 moldmakers in 80 glass plants across the nation as union and industry negotiators at Pittsburgh last night agreed to a contract extension. The contract will be on a day-by-day basis.

Indict Former Network Heads

Accused in Plot to Put Out Favorable Dominican 'News'

Washington —(AP)— Three former officials of Mutual Broadcasting System were accused today of accepting $750,000 to put out political propaganda favorable to the Dominican Republic over the radio network.

The accusation was made in an indictment charging them with failure to register with the justice department as agent for a foreign principal.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced that the indictment, returned by a federal grand jury, named the following:

International Financier Alexander L. Guterman who was Mutual's president during the early months of this year; Hal Roach, Jr., former Mutual board chairman; Garland L. Culpepper, Jr., one-time director of the MBS radio system.

The indictment named as co-conspirators, but not as defendants, MBS Inc. and Radio News Service corporation, described as having been organized by the three indicted mutual officials.

Also named as a co-conspirator was Otto Vega, an official of the Dominican Republic government.

The indictment charged that Guterman, Roach and Culpepper obtained $750,000 from the Dominican government in early February of this year on an understanding that Mutual's radio facilities in the United States would be used to disseminate political propaganda favorable to the Dominican Republic.

Nixon Sees No Threat To World Peace in Red Chinese Moves

San Francisco —(AP)— Vice President Richard Nixon told California newsmen today he doesn't think the Chinese reds are threatening world peace seriously with moves into northern India.

Nixon was here for a dinner with news executives of member newspapers of the Associated Press. In an off-the-record discussion with California and Nevada editors of AP papers, the vice president briefed them on observations made and opinions formed during his meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Marine Tells Tale of Trumpeting World Into Action at Pearl Harbor

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Marine Corps Base, Twentynine Palms, Calif. — Here on this world's largest marine corps base where heroes are the rule instead of the exception, I found the bugler who trumpeted the world into action.
He is Acting Gunnery Sgt. Roy F. W. Reick of Indianapolis. It was his now-battered bugle which sounded "call to arms" on the parade grounds at Pearl Harbor while the Japanese hurled bombs and bullets.
"That morning, Dec. 7, I was heading over to the marine barracks because I was to go on music duty," Reick said. "Music duty is when a bugler takes a post for a 24-hour period, blowing all calls and taking care of the telephone and such things."
"I was passing the officer's barracks when I heard planes. I looked up and I saw the first plane — it was silver just like ours — drop a bomb. I learned later that that first bomb was the one which went down the smokestack of the battleship Arizona.

Heard 'Big Sound'
"I thought it was funny that we would be dropping duds over the harbor, and then I heard the big sound—var-room!"

"I heard more bombs explode. I saw black smoke rising up and then I blew my bugle. I blew 'call to arms' and I blew it like I had never blown it before. I thought the planes were Japanese, but I just couldn't understand it.

"I blew 'call to arms' maybe 10 times and then I ran back to my barracks and got my .45 automatic pistol, the only weapon that had been issued to me.

"Before I ran out of the barracks I got on my knees and I asked God to help me. I had never prayed before. Then I ran out and started shooting. I made my way over to the northwest corner of the parade grounds and I blew the call again and again. I kept sounding it for 15 minutes.

Must Repeat Calls
"Soon other buglers at other places were sounding the call, too, because we were trained to repeat calls whenever we hear them.

"I'll never forget the sights, the confusion, the wantonness of it. One time there, a Jap plane came right over my head and I think he wasn't more than about 100 yards above me.

Acting Gunnery Sgt. Roy F. W. Reick, Indianapolis, Ind., polishes the bugle which sounded the call to arms Dec. 7, 1941, during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

I could see him look down and grin.

"Then he flew into some black smoke from an oil drum and his plane caught on fire and it fell right next to the hospital. Everywhere there were bodies. I prayed pretty much.

Helpless Feeling
"While they were bombing us and working us over I felt just like a baby being slapped hard, back and forth by an adult. We were helpless. We had little .45's and 30 calibre machine guns and rifles, those things.

"We had some 50 calibre machine guns but we couldn't get them to work right. We had some 3-inch guns, but the ammo was 27 miles away at the ammunition dump. Trucks had to go there and get it, but the Japs were gone by then."

Somewhere in the excitement, Reick, then a corporal, dropped his bugle. When he returned to look for it he found it crushed against a curb, "probably by an ammo truck," he said.

In later weeks he repaired it, but it will never be the same. It is smoke-blackened, taped and gummed. The bell is a series of dents. Nevertheless, he likes it and when he plays the calls at this base he prefers the Pearl Harbor bugle, "even if it does come apart sometimes in the middle of a call."

Became Pious Man
It was the shock and horror of the attack which changed Reick, then a corporal, with little interest in religion, to a man of devout piety.

Compounding his fervor for "the good Lord above," as he says, was the burial duty which fell to his lot after the attack.

"I not only played taps for the thousands who were killed that day, but a detail I was on was required to put the dead into pine boxes and to bury them in several cemeteries. We completely filled the Nuwana cemetery and put crude crosses over each grave.

"I hope to go back there some day and see if the cemetery is beautiful now. It wasn't then.

"Since that day I have played taps with this bugle over 800 burials. I think the Lord has meant that I should do it."

Reick's military occupation specialty is the repair of band instruments. There are only six such men in the marine corps.

Due to retirement in 1962, Reick hopes to live in the nearby city of Twentynine Palms where he will augment his retirement pay of about $175 per month with employment wages from a local music store.

Three Protests Fail to Change Assessment Total
The board of assessment review made no changes in the $115,654,925 record total value of property for city of Appleton tax purposes during week-long hearings concluded Friday.
Only property owners to make formal protests of their assessments were Mrs. Sophie M. Gloss, 1924 E. Melrose avenue, Stanley Theatcher, 122 E. College avenue, and Fred M. Neumann, 1630 S. Perkins street.
The board denied the protests of Mrs. Gloss and Neumann, and told Thatcher that City Assessor Pierre would recognize a tax protest when tax bills are sent out Jan. 1.
City Clerk Broehm now will check Pierre's assessment roll for errors. If none are found, he will certify the roll to the state.

"I would fall asleep in the evenings while smoking, and watching TV. So many old people burn to death. So I said, 'This is it, old woman. You are not going to buy another pack.'"
"I stopped, and it was not too bad. Now, two years later, I have not had even one, and I have no craving. I smoked for 30 years. I think it's very simple. Just don't buy them and you can't smoke. — Mrs. J. B.

What do you mean by calling yourself an "old woman"? You're brisk and hard-hitting. And I thank you for bringing up the danger of falling asleep with a lit cigarette.
Sense of Balance
Note to F. B.: The best answer I can offer to you is this: It is relatively rare that the eyes have any effect on the sense of balance. The ears (oddly enough) have a great deal to do with it. Look at it this way: In total darkness, your eyes can't possibly be of any use. The matter of balance (in the dark or the light) is not dependent on what you hear, but on some other qualities of the inner ear.

Salpa Fish Live in Upper, Warmer Levels of Oceans
BY RAMON COFFMAN
After I wrote one article about the salpa, it seemed that several questions remained. Today I shall give a few answers.

Q. In what parts of the ocean are salpas found?
A. In the Torrid zone and in warmer parts of the North Temperate zone. They like to spend their time in sunshine, and in daylight always seek the upper levels of the water. They are hard to observe because their bodies are transparent, and almost match the water.
Q. What food does the salpa have, and how does the food get to the intestines?
A. Water enters the opening at the front, then flows to the rear. Tiny forms of life exist in the water, and these are strained out and taken into the intestines.
Q. How does a salpa breathe without gills like those in a fish?
A. There are cells in the inside material which take free oxygen from the water.
Q. How does a salpa reproduce?
A. So-called "buds" are produced, and these develop into small animals with the general shape of the parent. The young ones cling together for a time, stretching out in a long chain.
At length the chain breaks into parts. Each link becomes a salpa of a special kind. It produces only a single egg.
The egg hatches and grows into an animal like the grandparent. New buds are produced in due course, and the life process goes on and on.
We may hail salpas as remarkable animals. They manage to live without many of the organs possessed by fish.

The "CHAIN GANG" formed by this MARINE ANIMAL LOOKS LIKE A WATER SNAKE.

Average Wage $2.03 More Than in 1958
Appleton Totals Up; 100 More Employed Now
A 1-month, 100 - man increase in Appleton's production worker force and a $2.03 increase in weekly wages over last year have been reported by the state industrial commission.
Employment rose from 5,630 in June to 5,730 in July. Weekly wages averaged $81.42, compared to $79.37 in July, 1958. The wage average, however, was $2.22 below the June average.
The state average for the same period was $95.10 — $13.68 above the Appleton average. Fred R. Gehrke, director of the state employment office, said Appleton's averages always are lower than state averages because of the large number of workers in the soft goods and metal industries here. Wages in those fields are lower the nation over, he said.
Gehrke attributed the slight decrease in the average wage to the increase in employment in the lower-paying soft goods industries.
5,730 Employees
Employment in the city was 5,730 in July, 5,630 in June and 5,130 in July, 1958. There were 475,000 production employees in the state.
Weekly earnings a year ago were $79.37. Weekly hours were down to 42.1 in July, compared to 42.8 in June and 41.4 in July, 1958. Average weekly hours in the state were 41.8 in July.
The state weekly wage average for July was 53 cents higher than the June level and $8.29 more than the July level a year ago.
The level would have been even higher, the industrial commission said, if the comparatively low wages of 17,000 cannery employees had not been averaged in.
The average weekly earnings of 200,800 Milwaukee area employees was listed at $105.79 and of Green Bay employees, $93.22, down from $94.26 in June.

Nelson Gives Congratulations For Conduct Code
Gov. Nelson publicly commended the parents of Appleton for the junior high school "We Believe" program, put into effect this fall.
In a letter to Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell he said, "I commend the parents of Appleton for taking preventive steps to combat juvenile delinquency, and wish you all success in promulgating such high, but sensible standards of conduct."
The governor called the conduct code "a common-sense approach to teenage problems." As a parent of two small children, Nelson said "I can see that I could willingly subscribe to such a program."
The conduct code will go into operation this fall. It was drawn up last spring by the youth committee of Roosevelt Junior High school PTA and adopted at several city-wide PTA meetings.

To Your Good Health

Two Types of Skin Problems Occur Commonly in Infancy

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: My son is 4 years old and has a very dry scalp since he was an infant. I've tried massage with olive oil, and with petroleum jelly, but neither has helped. Does he lack something in his diet? — A. M.M."

Dr. Molner: There are two common skin conditions in infancy — and scalp troubles are skin troubles since, after all, the scalp is skin.
One is an allergic condition, called atopic dermatitis. This generally proves to be due to sensitivity to something that is eaten or touched.
The other common one is seborrheic dermatitis, often called "cradle cap," since many times it causes a crusting of the scalp. Its cause is not known.

For the allergic type, egg albumin is perhaps as frequent an offender as anything, but there are other foods that can cause the same sort of trouble. Wheat, milk, certain vegetables or fruits can cause allergic reactions in some children, with resulting skin troubles.

Often these youngsters "outgrow" the problem. Either they adjust to the food, or the natural oils of the skin and scalp increase — which happens later in childhood (Of course, if the allergy is a severe one, you will find it necessary to discover just what is causing the problem and then either avoid that food or material, or resort to treatment by an allergist. However, when the allergy is severe, it will be obvious enough to leave no doubt.)

Cause Not Known
Now for "cradle cap." As I said, the cause is not known, but it has been noted that it occurs chiefly in chubby or fat, or sometimes outright overfed babies.

Reduction of fats and starches in the diet, bringing a loss in weight, has been known to prove effective in getting rid of the "cradle cap." Whether it is the control of weight, or the curtailment of fats and starches, I don't know. The two go together. At any rate, frequently it works.

Getting the youngster leveled off at his correct weight is a useful by-product of the process.

The use of olive oil or other remedies on the scalp seems logical, I agree, but the fact is that it just doesn't seem to work. And if it won't work, then it isn't the ticket for us.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am 66 years old and two years ago I decided to stop smoking. I had been using more than a carton a week. I had just buried my husband who had cancer of the lung. He had used a pipe, cigars and cigarettes. He was 75.

"I would fall asleep in the evenings while smoking, and watching TV. So many old people burn to death. So I said, 'This is it, old woman. You are not going to buy another pack.'"

"I stopped, and it was not too bad. Now, two years later, I have not had even one, and I have no craving. I smoked for 30 years. I think it's very simple. Just don't buy them and you can't smoke. — Mrs. J. B.

Wisconsin Methodist Ministers Meeting for Week of Study, Worship, Recreation

"One of the most important opportunities for unity of the Christian church in the world today is through the Lord's supper, the sacrament common to all branches of the Christian church," Dr. Cecil Northcott, Bromley, Kent, England, told an open service at First Methodist church Monday night.

The service was part of the annual Wisconsin Area Pastors' school which convened Monday. More than 200 Methodist clergymen from the state met for the week's program of study, worship and recreation.

The Rev. Mr. Northcott added that in the great new church, each will bring his separate treasured traditions, but will learn to understand one another and how to act together.

Speaker from Garrett

The next open meeting of the pastor's school will be at 8 p.m. tonight. Main speaker will be Dr. Ernest W. Saunders, Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Francis E. Kearns, Wauwatosa, dean of the school, led the opening devotional service Monday and presented leaders of the school. In addition to Dr. Northcott and Dr. Saunders, other lecturers are the Rev. W. Vernon Middleton, general secretary of the division of national missions of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Claude Welch, associate professor of theology at Yale Divinity school, New Haven, Conn.

The pastors hold class sessions and eat meals in First Methodist church. Dormitories of Lawrence college house the ministers.

Four Facts

Initial sessions were Monday afternoon. In his opening lecture on the "Changing Role of Missions in the Modern World," Dr. Middleton pointed out four facts: Christian missions have been successful and the problem now is not hearing but obeying; this success has proved embarrassing since Christian claims have caused a ferment in the world; Christian missions face the same problems at home as abroad, and the hands of the western world are not clean and that has proved a hardship on the Christian church in her world mission.

In his initial lecture on international relations Dr. Northcott stressed that leadership has passed to the United States. He said dealing with Russia is not endorsing her and added that communism in many areas reduced the number of Christian churches drastically.

"Recognition of red China would force her to take her place in the councils of the nations and thus come into contact with other cultures," he said.

Sessions will continue through Friday. Afternoons will be given over to recreation.

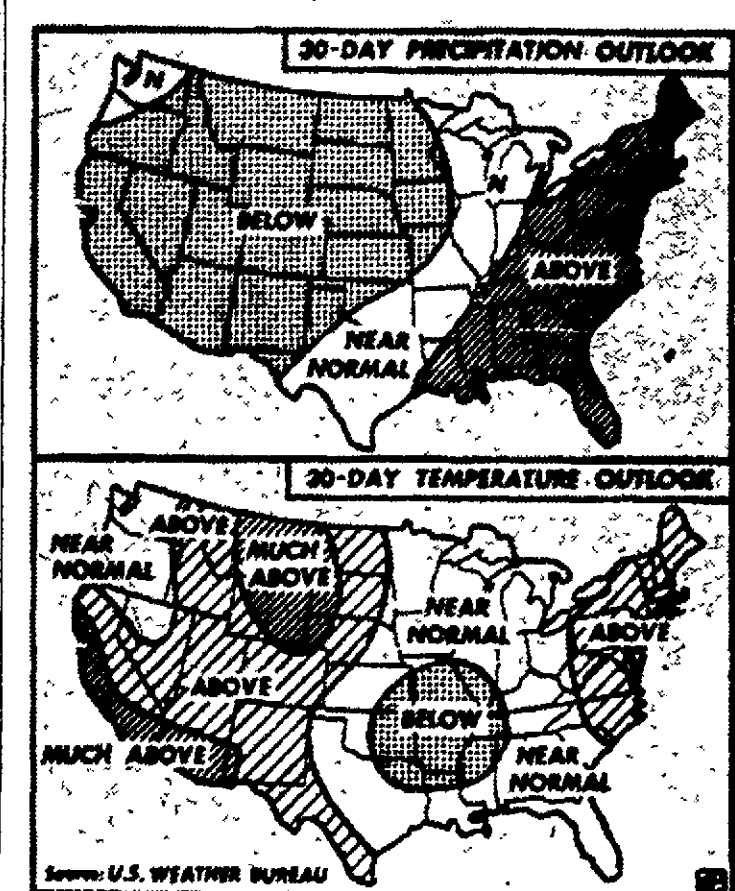

Cool Weather To Continue In Fox Cities

Sleeping was cool and some folks reverted to blankets for comfort as the temperature went down to 60 overnight.

Today also promises to be on the cool side. However, showers are expected to dampen things tonight and Wednesday.

Maximum temperature reached Monday was 76, the second straight day that it failed to get above the 80 degree mark.

The barometric pressure was on the skids in advance of dripping skies on the way. On Monday the reading was 30.98 and 24 hours later it had dropped to 29.92. The discomfort index read 68 today.

These Maps, Based on those issued today by the U. S. Weather Bureau, shows the temperature and precipitation forecast for the next 30 days. Both temperatures and precipitation will be above normal in most parts of the country.

Your Problems

Steady Date, 22, Lets Anxious Young Lady, 18, Dangle

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a sensible young lady, 18, and in nurse's training. I've been going steady with a fellow 22. Before he came along I dated many men. One day I realized I was not working toward a permanent relationship with Ann Landers anyone. Since this particular fellow seemed like the best of the lot I decided to concentrate on him.

He sensed my special interest and immediately suggested I stop dating the others. He said I was the type of girl he had always wanted. Now I'm wondering — wanted — for what?

He treats me coldly when others are present. He almost belittles me, you might say. When I broach the subject of marriage, he skillfully changes the topic. He gets furious when I hint that I may date someone else. Yet he studiously avoids committing himself. What's the next step?

— DANGLING

Dear Dangling: You're only 18, Toots. What's the big hurry to beat a commitment out of anybody? In your attempt to tie up this fellow you've become pretty well tangled in the ropes. Has the calf killed the butcher?

Unwind and enjoy the sweet flavor of freedom until you're mature enough to think about a permanent relationship.

DEAR ANN: What can we do about a headstrong daughter who is 21 and tells us she can do as she pleases?

In November she comes in to $7,000 from her grandfather's estate. There are no strings on this money. She gets it all at once.

Mae quit high school at 16 to "go on the stage". That didn't pan out so she worked on a steamship as a state-room maid and went all over the world. For six months we didn't even know where she was.

Last night she announced she'll marry as soon as she gets her money. We don't know the man but he's waiting for a divorce. She's making plans for an elaborate wedding which we can't afford. She says she'll pay for it out of her inheritance if we won't. What can we do?

— DOROTHY

Dear Dorothy: If you couldn't do anything with Mae when she was 16 why are you surprised you can't handle her at 21?

Tell her precisely the kind of wedding you can afford and make it plain that beyond that, it's on her. Also explain that if she blows her inheritance she can expect no financial lift from you.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far to Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

*Negative double.

Opening lead: King of hearts. There are many bids here and not one is a wasted bid. North's negative double after West's overall is standard to show a hand with values—but not enough for a free bid. After East passed, South bid two spades. This should be explained also. This is not a standard jump shift. After a negative double, the jump in a new suit is not even forcing but it shows an opening bid that is not in the minimum range. True, South had a minimum bid in high cards but he had a fine distribution hand and his 2-spade bid described it. In case you are wondering what South would do if he had a real jump shift, South then would be forced to cue-bid the opponent's suit and this becomes the game force.

Over two spades, North showed the club preference and South rebid the spade suit show at least five spades. North could now read that to show at least five spades too because South had opened the bidding with one club. Over three spades, North showed the heart control by bidding it and South still did not know what suit was going to be the final trump suit so he rebid four spades—yes, even with his 10-high. Now, when North bid five clubs, South bid the slam.

How did he know about the singleton spade? Easy, North had committed the hand to five clubs with no knowledge about South's solidity in diamonds and South properly assumed that North could not have two small spades for his bidding.

The play was easy. Declarer drew two trumps and trumped dummy's three small

Roger Wooden Claims Miss Cathryn Taubel

St. Therese Catholic church was the setting for the Saturday marriage of Miss Cathryn Taubel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Taubel, 424 W. Atlantic street, and Roger Wooden, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wooden, 2116 N. Oneida street.

The bride was given in marriage for the double ring ceremony by her father and Miss Janice Mainville, Kaukauna, was the honor aid.

Thomas Taubel, Chicago, was best man for his sister's wedding.

Following the ceremony a dinner for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents and the couple plan to live at 528 W. Johnson street, Madison.

The bride, a graduate of Appleton High school, was an employee of the Kimberly-

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Toddlers are inquisitive and acquisitive by nature. They want to possess everything. (And your breakables are always the most desirable.) A few tips to spare your treasures and temper:

- If you remove treasures to a safe zone, you'll eliminate a lot of no-no's and breakage woes.
- Let baby have things he can safely inspect. Pots and pans have lots of wonderful play and put-together value.
- If your grabber does latch on to a forbidden item, substitute something with play value before you take it away.

Bang-up idea. Easy way to straighten a little girl's bangs: Dampen 'em with just enough water to flatten 'em. Comb and cut. P.S. Use a small envelope to catch cut-offs. Keep hair from falling in baby's eyes or on the floor.

Brand new toddler delight—with highly nutritious leanings—cookies with added protein. That's the sweet sum and substance of Gerber Cookies. They're crisp and delicious... provide twice as much protein as most other cookies because they're made with protein-rich soy flour and nonfat dry milk. In addition, they have important B-vitamins added to the icing. Yes, vitamins in the icing so they can't be lost in baking. M-mmm good, and so good for your youngsters—either as a snack or desert. Large roomy pockets accent this tunic-styled wool dress from designer Pierre Cardin. Three giant-sized buttons decorate the bright purple wool above the waistline and the pockets extend down either side of the amply-cut skirt. The sleeves are three-quarter length and like the rest of Cardin's clothes, the suit is collarless.

Eye-catching red and purple checked wool is used by Paris designed Guy Laroche for this dress from his new collection. It is worn with a matching purple jersey "chapeau chasuble" which is tucked into the turtle neck collar of the dress.

Simple and slender is this suit, "Fanaron," from the collection of Paris couturier Jacques Heim. It vaguely follows the outline of the body from neck to hips and the skirt is a slender sheath. The suit is in brandy-brown velvet and has a jacket trimmed with fox fur and wrist-length sleeves. A yellow jersey blouse completes the costume.

This 2-piece cocktail ensemble from the collection of Parisian Lanvin-Castillo gives an impression of stained glass windows. The same motif appears in other items in the designer's new collection. The sheath dress and jacket with a deep-cut neckline are in brown satin and black velvet. The small toque hat is made of black fox fur.

"Heloise" is the title of this red and black checked taffeta ensemble from the autumn and winter collection of Christian Dior's Paris salon. The triple flounce is the feature of this dressy evening ensemble cinched at the waist by a wide black belt.

Pierre Balmain of Paris carries his long jacket line on into evening wear in a velvet creation with the long, lean look. The strictly tailored double-breasted dinner suit is of moss green velvet and a diamond-studded boutonniere from Boivin trims the lapel. A multi-colored sequin blouse is worn under the jacket and a mink hat and muff complete the costume.

Elegant is the word for this evening gown in pale purple and gold lame entitled "Velasquez" by its designer, Carven. The gown, part of the Paris designer's fall and winter collection, is accented with a large pin at the throat, topping a row of buttons which reach to the waist.

Black and white curly tweed reaching just to the knees is used by Christian Dior's Paris salon for this tweed sheath dress topped with a matching short tweed jacket. The ensemble is entitled "Motard" and is featured in the new fall collection from the famed fashion house.

Parisians Finally Unveil Long, Short of Fall's High Fashions

BY NADEANE WALKER

Paris—The new Paris fashions for fall are short and they are long. They are conventional, and they are eccentric.

Today pictures of the new creations can be published, and the public can take its pick. To protect themselves from commercial copyists, Paris fashion houses ban photos of their new styles until models are safely in the hands of buyers.

Now you can see what all the fuss was about when fashion writers got first peek at the shows more than a month ago.

Dior's knee-high skirts were the sensation of the season.

Lanvin's long hems were the biggest letdown.

But now the pictures prove that hems have not gone above the knee, as some alarmists cried. In Dior's shortest extremes, a mannequin can just manage to show all her kneecap if she cocks her leg at a provocative angle. The happy medium for the season is two or three inches below the knee.

Choose Styles all over Paris every fashion the main trends that may be expected to show up in the wardrobes of women who like to keep up with the styles:

By now the partisans have made their choice: Elizabeth Taylor likes Dior's short skirts and has bought 10 of them, and Barbara Hutton has gone for Lanvin's long look in an even bigger way. The Duchess of Windsor has said she won't wear them that short, and designer Yves Saint-Laurent's mother has said she will, proving that mother love is something special.

The duchess also said, as she arose with a sigh from her spindly gold chair at the Dior opening, "That's the hardest thing I ever sat on." A thousand writers have sighed the same sigh as they get up from identical spindly gold chairs Fairly slim tube dresses for day wear (Heim called his silhouette the "test tube").

Brocade or lame suits for cocktail and dinner time (Chanel and Balmain showed some of the best of these).

New Shadings

New color shadings that "melt" from pale at the shoulder to deep hues at the hem (Cardin can claim a monopoly on these, but the idea is sure to spread).

Tunic effects (everybody did them).

Warmly lined but sleeveless over-vests (a bright idea of Guy Laroche).

Elbow-length bell sleeves (designed by Jules Crahway in the Nina Ricci collection).

All the designers went for black, brown, grey and beige for day wear. Hairy or tree-bark woolens for suits and coats were equalled in popularity by satin and velvet for evening.

Mrs. Ted Cloak to Visit Daughter At Playhouse

Mrs. Ted Cloak, director of the Attic theater, will leave Friday for Stockbridge, Mass., where she will visit her daughter, Andy Lou, who is a member of the junior resident company of the Berkshire Playhouse. Mr. and Mrs. Cloak conducted the school of acting for apprentices at the same theater for 11 years.

Andy Lou, who is listed on the programs as Andrea, has played small parts in "Picnic," "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "Man and Superman." In the forthcoming production of "The Boy-friend" she will play a major singing and dancing part in her first musical comedy role.

Andy was one of the original members of the Attic theater when she was 14 and worked with the theater for seven seasons. After her graduation from Lawrence college, she spent 16 months in England and Europe and studied acting at the Old Vic Theater school in Bristol, England.

Cloak will leave Wednesday for the Quarter Circle MC ranch in Glacier National park to call for the couple's son, Nate, who has been junior host for the past four summers. He was recently promoted from junior ranger to assistant ranger.

County Defers Any Survey for Airport

Citizens Group Offers $3,350, But Without Written Promise

An airport survey was discussed and rejected — at least for now — by the Outagamie county board's airport committee today.

A resolution, which originated with the Citizens Airport Advisory committee, was offered by Supv. Alois C. Fischer, but he withdrew it after committee members objected to a commitment to Leigh Fischer and Associates, airport consultants.

Asked was recommendation by the committee that the county board approve a survey by the Fischer firm, costing $10,000, with $3,350 contributed by private industry. Committee members protested that they had never heard of the $3,350 offered by private industry and there was no written commitment.

Deferred Before

The county's airport committee earlier deferred action on a survey until Sept. 1, commenting that it awaited a master plan from the state. Today's action defers any survey action until early October.

Thomas K. Jordan, state aeronautical commission director, told the committee today the master plan would not be ready for at least 60 days. However, Jordan explained, the commission will have cost estimates by the next committee meeting Oct. 6.

Cost estimates will include a 3,300-foot cross runway, land needed for it, taxiway construction, but no terminal. No federal funds are available for terminal construction, Jordan said.

Cites Obstructions

Obstructions on the west end of the runway — including two houses on E. Frances street — must be taken care of before any application for federal aid is made, Jordan declared.

The committee also decided to back the highway committee's upcoming request for a rotary snow plow. The plow is an attachment to fit on a truck and costs between $15,000 and $20,000. Airports with commercial air service throughout the state have rotary equipment, Max Sagunsky, airport manager, said.

The county highway committee is requesting a rotary to take care of the highway 41-10 interchange and others to come on the relocated 12-mile section between 10 and Kaukauna.

Ann Arbor Man Elected to Head Baptist Assembly

Green Lake — Robert L. Johnson, Ann Arbor, Mich., was elected president of the American Baptist assembly board of directors at its semi-annual meeting in Green Lake.

Other officers are Forrest L. Smith, who succeeds Johnson as treasurer of the assembly; Percy C. Sorenson, Wauwatosa, and Howard L. Roach, Plainfield, Iowa, vice presidents of the board of directors; and Mrs. Philip S. Curtis, New York City, associate general secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission societies, reelected secretary.

The Rev. Paul McFarland, director of Christian education at Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C., was named personnel director for the assembly.

Inspect Schools

Fire department inspectors Monday began their annual inspections of all city public and private schools. Chief Neumann said reports will be furnished school officials.

Mothers and Children Flooded the New Daniel Huntley school this morning for the first day of classes. All Appleton public and parochial schools opened today, including St. Pius X and Huntley grade schools, and Xavier Catholic High school, all erected last year for use this fall. Scenes like this prevailed all over the city this morning. By Wednesday, pupils will have found their new classrooms and comparative quiet will prevail.

Crash Victims Still Critical At New London

Funeral Plans Completed for Mother, 2 Children

New London — Three of the Hoagland children, victims of the city's worst automobile accident, remain unconscious today as funeral plans were completed for their mother and a brother and sister who died in the crash Sunday morning.

The three were killed and nine others injured when cars driven by Robert Hoagland, 18, and Lowell Holverson, 25, of 427 W. Pine street, New London, collided at Highways 45 and 54 at the city's north limits.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Hoagland, her daughter, Betty Lou, 7, and son, James, 9, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at First Lutheran church, Green Bay, with burial in Fort Howard cemetery. Friends may call at the Lyndahl Funeral home, Green Bay, after 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Still Very Critical

Still unconscious and considered in very critical condition are Robert, Ruth, 17, and Mary, 10. The other four Hoagland children were reported improved.

Also improved are Mrs. Holverson and her son, Gregory, 20 months old. More complete examinations have resulted in this list of injuries:

Injury List

Ruth, eight fractures in the pelvis, fractures of both lower legs and possible skull fracture.

Mary, head injuries. These three have not regained consciousness.

In improved condition are: Carol, 13, possible skull fracture, jaw fracture and right leg fracture.

Larry, 12, fractured upper and lower jaw.

Gerald, 14, both legs fractured.

Mrs. Holverson, both lower legs fractured and fractured right arm.

Gregory Holverson, concussion and scalp lacerations.

Marvin Hoagland, 6, in good condition. He suffered cuts about the head and body.

Fox Cities Drivers Forfeit Bonds

Waupaca — Henry James Clausen, 30, of 1312 S. Kernan avenue, Appleton, forfeited $10 when he failed to answer a charge of failing to stop for an arterial when his case came before Justice George Whalen.

Donald D. Remmel, 18, Menasha, forfeited $10 for failing to answer a charge of speeding.

Warn Taxes Apply to Juke Box Dances

Federal Agents Visit Taverns At Green Bay

Green Bay — Those "no dancing" signs posted in Green Bay and Door county vacation area night spots are the result of a reminder from federal tax agents that a 20 per cent excise tax applies to dancing to juke box music.

Agents from the Milwaukee district internal revenue office stopped at nearly 10 Door county and Green Bay taverns with a reputation for juke box dancing about the middle of August and the word has spread that the "heat" is on dancing.

Emil Nelson, director of the Milwaukee tax office, however, said today the visit by his agents was only routine. He said no tax claims had been filed. But he said it was probable that tax auditors were checking into excise tax returns of the last five years.

Routine Check

"There is no particular drive on or anything like that. It is part of our enforcement program which goes on all year around. I know our men were in Eagle River about a month ago, and they probably worked their way back through Green Bay," Nelson said.

Richard Fedash, operator of the Prom in De Pere, reported he was one of the per-

Driver Takes Boy To Hospital, Nearly Loses Job

A motorist who took an injured boy to St. Elizabeth hospital Monday afternoon nearly lost a prospective job because of it.

Leland Zehren, 1520 S. Ritter street, took Al Stark, 16, of 1705 N. Charlotte street, to the hospital after the youth lost control of his bicycle as he rode down the S. Lawe street hill at the drawbridge. The boy broke his right wrist and received several face cuts.

Zehren, passing the scene, was on his way to a 3 p.m. appointment for an interview for a job. By the time he took the boy to the hospital, his appointment hour had passed.

However, today he explained the circumstances, had the interview and got the job.

Chamber Roads Committee Backs Extension of 'A'

Extension of County Trunk A as far south from Wisconsin avenue as possible will be urged upon the county highway committee by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce's roads committee.

Committeemen have authorized Chairman Robert L. Roemer to make the plea.

City council street committeemen similarly have urged the extension to provide a western access to the city's industrial development park on S. Perkins street.

They also have cited the possibilities of an eventual bridge over the Fox river off such a route.

Eyes of World Focus on Berlin As Hitler Launches WW II

BY EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Berliners awoke early on the morning of Sept. 1, 1939, to the blare of brass military marches on their radios instead of gay waltzes and soft symphonies.

"They've marched, haven't they?" My German landlady asked anxiously. And in a moment she had her answer. Fanfares burst forth on the radio. A solemn-voiced announcer read Adolf Hitler's order of the day to his army, air force and navy to "meet force with force." Hours earlier, while the Poles slept, Nazi armored columns and the Luftwaffe had struck at Poland.

"The world war took my husband," my landlady said. "I'm afraid this will take my 'war baby'. He's somewhere on that Polish front, you know."

She turned to her housework, troubled about what the future held. For weeks, Germans sensed that Hitler intended to go to war. The Nazi propaganda machine, steadily building up a series of alleged frontier incidents, had seen to that. But

It was to have been peace in our time, but for months the world waited and watched, eyes focused on Hitler's Berlin. Would he give the word? Then, 20 years ago today, it came — and with it the end of a world. Here an Associated Press correspondent who covered the momentous events vividly recaptures the scene (the first of three articles on the outbreak of World war II.

at the same time, most Germans had hoped the war tension would all end in another of Hitler's diplomatic blitzes — as in the case of the Rhineland, Austria, Sudetenland, Czechoslovakia and Memel.

Hope Shattered

The hope was shattered on that sunny, late summer day. Relative telephoned relative. Friend called on friend. "Did you hear from Hans lately? Is he in the east?" "Erich was called up this morning." "The military requisitioned our car." "Do you think it will last long?" "What will England and France do?" "Will America act?"

"Surely, the west will come to terms with Hitler when he shows his military power by crushing Poland."

So the German mind began working, resigned as usual but fearful.

Later that morning, I went to the Kroll opera house in the Tiergarten park of central Berlin to hear Hitler address his rubber stamp reichstag.

Hitler's brown clad deputies, summoned from their beds in the wee hours of the night, packed the hall. There was an empty seat in the diplomats gallery where the Polish ambassador usually sat. Then, sharply at 10 a.m., Hitler strode in with his entourage crowding behind him. As he passed down the aisle, the deputies rose as a man. Arms shot upward in the Nazi salute.

It was a familiar sight — with one small exception demonstrating the lengths and detail to which Hitler had gone in planning the war. For the first time, he and his adjutants appeared in well-tailored outfits made of the field gray cloth the Nazi army wore instead of the brown party uniform.

Victory or Death

"I have never desired anything more than to serve the state as a soldier," Hitler declared in a strong voice. "I am putting on the uniform and I shall take it off only in victory or death."

The reichstag rose to its feet. A roar of "siege hail" (hall victory) echoed through the hall.

Hitler finished his war tirade without a formal declaration of war. A colleague and I walked out into the Tiergarten to our car.

We found a soldier about to stencil an army symbol on the front and rear fenders before driving it off. Dozens of other cars also parked along the shady Tiergarten streets already bore army identifications.

"These are cars requisitioned for the general staff," the soldier explained.

"But there must be some mistake," we protested. "We're foreign newspapermen and haven't been served with any requisition order."

The soldier conferred with his superior, accepted our explanation and off we drove. We had unwittingly parked in a section of the street set aside for an army car pool. Work already had stopped on the great rebuilding schemes planned by Hitler on an heroic scale to convert Berlin into a capital he considered worthy of his dreams for a thousand years reich.

Shift to War

On all sides, the shift to a war basis was going ahead almost automatically. The German war machine had gone into high gear with hardly a shudder.

Workmen were shrouding the golden goddess of victory glittering in the sunlight atop iron Chancellor Bismarck's towering column built to commemorate the 1870 German victory over the French. It was a Berlin landmark but dressed in black the glint no longer would attract enemy planes like a beacon.

More workmen were stringing wire across tiny lakes in the parks to support camouflage making it more difficult for enemy fliers to orient themselves.

In a schoolyard, veterinarians were examining hundreds of horses before they were sent to the front.

"We've a motorized army," said a policeman, "but we need the horses because the Poles don't have the roads we've got. There's nothing but sand and mud over there."

Uncertain Future

Queues of housewives stood outside grocery, butcher and milk stores. They clutched newly issued food ration cards. Berliners also crowded into other shops hoping to buy up still unrationed articles — anything at all — against the uncertain future.

Policemen knocked on doors with call-up orders. Nazi wardheelers passed through apartment houses issuing instructions and orders — keep bathtubs filled with water, place a pail of sand and of water on each staircase to fight fire in the event of an air raid.

Riding home that night in a bus, I spoke English to an acquaintance.

"In Germany, we speak German," snapped a man across the aisle. "We have enough spies already. If you don't speak German I'll call the police."

Freshly pasted to a window behind him was a poster. It showed a stern-faced, steel-helmeted German soldier with forefinger set across his lips to seal them.

The caption read: "The enemy is listening."

A German Army Flag flew over the garrison on the Westerplatte in Danzig after Nazi land, sea and air attack forced its surrender. Hitler had planned to take Danzig in one day but the garrison held out for one week before surrendering.

State Escapee Faces Texas Kidnap Charge

Austin, Texas — (AP) — A charge of kidnaping — which carries a possible sentence of death in the electric chair — was placed Saturday against Larry Lee Radant, 19, an escapee from a Wisconsin state reformatory forestry camp. Radant was caught and his buddy, David Kryshak, also 19, was shot to death by a detective when trapped in a motel room here last Thursday.

Austin police said Radant admitted that he and Kryshak stole three automobiles before they abducted Marvin Braswell, an Austin businessman, at El Paso and forced him at gunpoint to accompany them on a wild ride in Texas.

1. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber is stronger — up to 20% stronger than "green" unseasoned lumber.
2. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber minimizes damage by shrinkage—minimizes plaster cracks, jamming doors and sticking windows.
3. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber helps to prevent "nail-popping" in plasterboard walls and ceilings and in floors.
4. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber minimizes squeaky floors — joists are stiffer and stronger without bounce and sway.
5. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber looks better — all pieces are bright and clear.
6. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber is your assurance of top quality and full value. You buy the best when you invest in Lieber's kiln-dried lumber.
7. Lieber's kiln-dried lumber gives you more wood for your money. It is pre-shrunk at the sawmill resulting in 5 to 10% more wood content.

D. E. McDonald, Former County Judge, Dies

Served on Bench 33 Years; Funeral To be Thursday

Oshkosh — Former County Judge D. E. McDonald, "a man who didn't dislike anybody," died at 12:10 p.m. Monday, two months before his 90th birthday. He had been in failing health for several months.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Fiss and Bills Funeral home here with the Rev. William Spicer, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, in charge. Burial will be in Lakeview Memorial park. Friends may call from 3 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to the hour of the service Thursday.

He is survived by three sons, Franklin and Evan of Oshkosh and Gilbert of Madison. His wife died three years ago.

The former county judge, who retired Dec. 31, 1955, after 47 years of public service as district attorney, county board chairman and county judge, gave as his philosophy the terse statement of, "I don't dislike anybody."

He added, "Even those whom I had to prosecute while district attorney I did not dislike. I do not believe there is any need or reason to have malice toward anyone."

Fatherless At 3

Born Nov. 6, 1869, on a farm in Green Lake county, he was one of seven children and his father died three years after his birth. He worked so hard on the farm during his childhood that neighbors remarked "that McDonald boy won't live to be 20," he once ob-

Throwing His Last Switch after 42 years with the Soo Line railroad, Jerome Berendsen, 616 Wilson street, Neenah, retired Monday. Watching him are, left to right, Dennis Lewandowski and William Richter, switchmen, and Al Rosenow, yardmaster, and in the engine cab, Al Le May, fireman, and John Wood, engineer.

With Soo Line

Neenah Man Ends 42 Years With Railroad

Neenah — One of the most momentous times in his 42 years as a switchman for the Soo Line here, not counting breaking a leg and being laid up for 11 months, Jerome Berendsen, 616 Wilson street, recalled Monday as he put in his last day, was the sleet storm on Washington's birthday in 1922.

"The sleet, ice and snow had caused one switch engine to tip over at the 'Y' north of Main street. Berendsen and his crew walked over to Menasha to get another engine. "Wires were down all along the way and we were lucky we didn't get electrocuted," he reviewed.

Broke Leg

The broken leg came in August of 1939 when he stepped into a hole while getting off a switch engine. "I lost my balance and fell against another switch engine moving along an adjoining track."

The left leg was broken below the knee and now contains some metal rings and an intertwining of metal like a shoe lace in the bone.

Berendsen began with the Soo Line in Fond du Lac as a brakeman July 19, 1917, and on Aug. 31 transferred to Neenah-Menasha as a switchman. His plans call for moving to Shawano lake in several weeks and then a train trip to New York and Connecticut to visit a son. He has been a switch foreman for much of his 42 years with the railroad.

Trains are about three times as long as when he started switching but are easier to handle now because of many more tracks to spot cars on, he brought out.

Pair Bound Over On Morals Charges

Oshkosh — Two Oshkosh men, charged with taking indecent liberties with minors, have been bound over to the record branch of municipal court.

George Service, 39, of 817 John avenue, arrested Aug. 24, underwent preliminary examination Monday morning and his next appearance will be at 10 a.m. Sept. 15. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Alois Troiber, 53, of 437 W. Eleventh avenue, arrested Aug. 25, was bound over until 10 a.m. Friday. He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Chicagoan Ordered To Pay $50 Support

Oshkosh — Benjamin Kottke, 37, Chicago, charged with non-support of his wife and four children, who reside at 206 Wright avenue, Neenah, was ordered to pay $50 a week support money and then re-leased by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger Monday afternoon.

If he fails to carry out the weekly payments Kottke will appear in court on Oct. 29.

Council to Ponder Dutch Elm Disease Ordinance Tonight

6-Ward Redistricting Measure To Come Up at Sept. 15 Session

Menasha — Dutch elm disease control and city ward redistricting ordinances were approved Monday night by the city council's ordinance and resolution committee.

The elm disease ordinance is expected to be presented for full council action at tonight's session. The redistricting measure probably will be offered at the Sept. 15 session. City Atty. William R. Giese said the latter would involve more preparation time.

Outstanding Laws Passed, Cane Asserts

Lists Family Code, Court Overhaul as Major Legislation

Menasha — Many outstanding pieces of legislation were enacted at the recent session of the Wisconsin legislature. Assembled by man Arnold J. Cane of Menasha told the Menasha Kiwanis club Monday night.

Among the guests of the club were:

Cane, Matti Kaleva Kekkonen, son of the president of Finland, Dr. Urho Kekkonen, former premier, and State Sen. William A. Draheim.

Assemblyman Cane told of the struggle for overhauling the court system, ending the "hodge-podge" of courts with varying jurisdictions. The new law, effective in 1962, provides for uniformity of procedure, the elimination of part-time county judges, abolition of the fee system of compensation for judges, drastic curtailment of the justice of the peace courts and equitable adjustment of the work loads of the courts.

Family Code

High on the list of accomplishments of the 1959 session, said Cane, was the revision of marriage and divorce laws through enactment of the Family code effective Jan. 1, 1960.

The revision stresses the stability of families as a cornerstone of society and aims at strengthening the obligations of parties to the marriage contract. Marriages are made a little harder to enter and divorces a little harder to obtain under the new law.

Among other new laws discussed by Cane were those relating to mental illness, abolishing secrecy in government, formation of the new Menominee county following release of Indian reservation lands by the federal government, the new boating laws, water and irrigation laws, annexation laws and land condemnation laws.

He also discussed increased state aids for schools to help lighten local property taxes, and the struggle between advocates of a 1-year as opposed to a 2-year budget, as called for by law. He noted that at the state budget exclusive of 206 Wright avenue, Neenah, highways and conservation was ordered to pay $50 a week support money and then re-leased by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger Monday afternoon.

If he fails to carry out the weekly payments Kottke will appear in court on Oct. 29.

He predicted that Democratic Gov. Nelson and the Democratic assembly would try to spend more the second year of the biennium, and said that he strongly favored economy in government. Cane praised Sen. Draheim for his work as chairman of finance, "the most important job in the legislature."

Because of the presence of the honored guest, Matti Kekkonen, Cane compared Finland and Wisconsin. Finland, he said, was roughly twice the size of Wisconsin in area, but roughly equal in population, with each having about 4 million people. Finland has a 1-house (unicameral) parliament consisting of 200 members in which Kekkonen sits.

Fond of Finland

Cane told of the fondness of Americans for Finland because of the struggles of that country for freedom, first when ruled by Sweden, later by Russia, and finally as an independent nation subject to pressures of communists from without and within.

He said Finland captured the hearts and imaginations of Americans by paying its debts to America in the 1930's, and its "magnificent struggle" against the Russians in the 1940's.

Praises Draheim

He predicted that Democratic Gov. Nelson and the Democratic assembly would try to spend more the second year of the biennium, and said that he strongly favored economy in government. Cane praised Sen. Draheim for his work as chairman of finance, "the most important job in the legislature."

Band Concert Thursday in Neenah Park

Neenah — The Neenah Community band, sponsored by the Neenah Recreation department, will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Riverside park. Les Mais will direct.

Anyone able to play grade 2 band music is welcome to play with the band, Mais said. It is for high school music students, graduates and adults.

French horns, basses, baritone and bass drum will be furnished by the department. Smaller instruments must be furnished by the players.

Many Neenah school band members play in the Community band because it gives them the opportunity to practice sight-reading of music.

Twin City Deaths

Eldon 'Ted' Hoyman

Neenah — Eldon "Ted" Hoyman, 56, route 1, Neenah, died at 10:15 p.m. Monday after a two week's illness. Born July 26, 1903 at Florence, he was a resident of the Neenah area for the last 35 years. He was employed by the George Banta company and was a veteran of World War II.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Westgor Funeral home with the Rev. L. Clarence Kelley, pastor of the First Methodist church, in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Wednesday. Military rites will be conducted at the grave by the Hawley-Dieckhoff American Legion post No. 33.

Survivors include the widow; one son, Donald, Neenah; two brothers, Milan and Dan, Neenah; two sisters, Mrs. A. J. Harrison and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Neenah; and one grandson.

Johnson Funeral

Neenah — Funeral services for Samuel E. Johnson, 58, of 929 Reddin avenue, who collapsed and died on an Oshkosh street Monday morning, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Westgor Funeral home with Dr. John E. Bouquet, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery at Appleton.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. today.

POST CRESCENT News of the Twin Cities Menasha - Neenah

Entries were prepared and the midway set up for the opening of the Winnebago county golden anniversary fair today. The fair will run through Friday with a different program every day. Mary Gerrits, route 1, Neenah, a Rippling Brook 4-H club member, is fixing her garden plot exhibit in the upper photo while above workmen set up the large ferris wheel, a popular midway attraction.

Boy Slightly Hurt When Bumped by Bike

Neenah — A stop in the middle of Grove street for a chat by two 5-year-old boys, Mark Snyder and Mark Pagel, about 11:30 a.m. Monday, ended with the Snyder boy being taken to Theda Clark hospital for X-rays and observation.

An older boy was riding a bicycle and the two kids began to run in opposite directions to get out of the way. The Snyder boy was "hit" by the bicycle and received a bump on the head. He was taken to the hospital by his mother, Mrs. Jack Snyder, 962 Grove street.

NOTICE

There will be a special meeting of John A. Bryan lodge, F. and A.M., tomorrow, Sept. 2, at 1 p.m. at the lodge room to attend the funeral of brother James E. Fitzgibbon.

J. W. Herbold Secretary

Moore to Head Advance Gifts Drive for Chest Fund

Neenah — Named advance gifts solicitation chairman for the coming Neenah-Menasha Community Chest fund raising drive today was H. R. Moore, administrative vice-president of Bergstrom Paper company. The appointment was made by E. W. Aylward, general chairman.

Aylward also announced that Mrs. William I. Herriott, newly appointed Community Chest coordinator, will be in charge of collections and statistics during the 1959 drive. With a goal of $126,400, the drive will begin Oct. 5 and funds collected will go to the support of 10 health, youth and welfare agencies in the Twin Cities.

During the 1949-50 year, Moore was director of the Oshkosh Community Chest. He also has served on the board of directors of the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin and is a member of the Winnebago county board.

Council to Act on Dutch Elm Measure

The redistricting ordinance will provide for six wards. The sixth ward would be the present Fourth ward's second precinct, lying generally east of DePere street, with minor adjustments.

3 Wards Unchanged

Under the proposed 6-ward setup, the First, Second and Third wards would be unchanged. The Fifth ward would be increased by taking the Fourth ward land lying southeast of Plank road.

Fireman Administers Oxygen to Baby Girl

Menasha — Beverly Thomas, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley W. Thomas, 801 Sixth street, was taken to Theda Clark Memorial hospital this morning after Lt. Roy Verhoven of the fire department administered oxygen to her.

The little girl, who was having difficulty breathing, had pneumonia in February. She and her mother were taken to the hospital by squad car.

advised the ordinance would not be in keeping with the spirit of the statutes, which provide that any redistricting of wards must be to make them as nearly equal in population as possible.

Committee members rejected the idea of submitting the measure to referendum. One said the council was elected by the people to perform as its members best saw fit.

Gold Star Mothers Plan Observance

Increasing Number of Negro Pupils in Integrated Classes, Some Deep South Cities Hold Out

By the Associated Press
School integration has started in several southern cities without the violence which marked the opening of classes in some sections in the past.

An increasing number of Negro youngsters are trudging off to integrated schools. They are expected to be joined by others later this week and next.

The changes are mostly in the upper and border states, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina are holding firm to traditional separate schools for white children and Negroes.

Potential trouble at the Dolanway school district near Pine Bluff, Ark., has been postponed temporarily. The Sept. 8 opening date was put off until after a hearing Sept. 21 in St. Louis on an appeal from an integration order by a federal judge.

Many Law Suits
The advance of at least token integration in many parts of Dixie has been accompanied by a barrage of law suits. In Virginia the massive resistance pattern appears to have been replaced by a policy of maximum containment.

Integrated schools open in several cities today.

At Arlington, Va., 16 Negroes are scheduled to attend classes with white pupils under federal court order. Three schools are affected. Most Virginia schools open after Labor day.

City schools at Nashville, Tenn., begin their third year of partially integrated classes.

School Superintendent W. H. Oliver estimates 325 Negroes and 2,000 white pupils are eligible to attend formerly all-white elementary schools under the grade-a-year desegregation plan. There was no indication how many of the eligible Negroes planned to register. Last year only 28 out of 230 eligible Negroes attended integrated classes.

Other Areas
Classes also start at the previously all-white elementary school at Sturgis, Ky., where 44 Negro children registered Monday under a federal court order to integrate all Union county elementary schools. Attempts of Negroes to enter white schools at Sturgis resulted in violence three years ago.

Eleven Negro children are attending classes with white pupils at Havelock, a coastal North Carolina community where integration began Friday. No incidents have been reported.

At Summerton, S. C., where the Clarendon county school board was one of five defendants in the supreme court's original integration decree, 15 Negro pupils have applied for reassignment to white schools. No date has been set by the school board for action on the applications, however.

Most public school opened in Alabama and Georgia Monday. No attempts at integration were reported in either state. The Atlanta school board is under federal court order to submit a desegregation plan by Dec. 1.

A plan of gradual integration was approved Monday night by the school board at Chapel Hill, N. C. Under this plan first grade integration is planned to begin a year from now. In taking this action, the board by a 4-2 vote turned down the application of a 10-year-old Negro to enter a white school.

At Birmingham, Ala., wooden crosses were burned Monday night near 10 white schools. Police had no immediate explanation for the incidents.

Mental Exam For Confessed Killer of 3

Riverhead, N. Y. — (AP) — "I want to plead guilty," Francis Bloeth shouted at the judge, "I'm going to get the chair anyway. Why can't I plead guilty?"

The judge began to explain to the hulking, 27-year-old construction worker yesterday that state law doesn't allow a guilty plea to a charge of first-degree murder.

"I want to be heard," Bloeth interrupted. "I am sane. I want to plead guilty. Let's get it over with."

When he was ordered to be quiet, he shouted, "Don't I have some rights of free speech? What happened to freedom of speech in this country?"

Finally he subsided, and his attorney, Sidney Siben, was granted a request for 60 days to determine if Bloeth is sane enough to stand trial. The lawyer entered a plea to the murder charges for Bloeth over his protest — innocent by reason of insanity.

Bloeth is accused of three holdup-slayings on Long Island which netted him less than $400. He told police he liked to kill, that he used to strangle cats when he was a child, and that he would have gone on killing if he hadn't run out of bullets.

New Sales Tax Faces Test In Michigan

Supreme Court to Rule on Legality Of Extra Charge

Lansing — (AP) — Michigan's new use sales tax law, only one day old, faced a State Supreme court test of its legality today.

The law went into effect today, adding a penny to the three-cent sales tax.

But even as millions of taxpayers started paying the higher rate, Detroit Attorney Charles P. Lockwood prepared to ask the high court to throw out the act as unconstitutional and restrain the State Revenue Department from collecting it.

The announcement met a blast from Republican legislators, who led a successful fight to meet the state's financial troubles with a use tax boost. Democrats fought a losing battle for a personal and corporate income tax.

$120 Million Revenue

If it survives, the new sales levy will pour about $120 million into nearly empty state coffers in the next year. It is the heart of a $120 million tax program adopted by the legislature on the weekend after 7½ months of bitter wrangling that brought the state close to financial chaos.

Atty. General Paul L. Adams said $8½ million in new business drawn from increase in the business activities and intangibles taxes, would not be affected by the suit.

Adams explained his decision by asserting he had a duty to represent both the department and the people.

Adams' group contends that since the two taxes apply on the same purchases, they are in fact one and violate a constitutional amendment prohibiting the legislature from imposing a sales levy of more than three per cent.

Gov. Williams, grim and terse, signed the 3-bill package into law Monday. At the same time, he held Republican senators to a pledge to release the $50-million-Veterans Trust Fund once the use tax bill was passed.

Securities in the fund would be liquidated and the money turned into the state treasury to meet pressing cash needs.

to accept Bloeth for the 60 days, because he was considered too dangerous. The mental examination will be conducted at the county jail.

Cambodia's King Norodom Suramarit and Queen Sisowath Kossanak narrowly escaped death Monday night when a bomb disguised as a gift went off at the royal palace in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. The blast killed three members of the palace staff and injured three others.

1,400 New York Police To Patrol Trouble Spots

Commissioner Announces Move To Curb Mounting Teenage Crime

New York — (AP) — Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has assigned 1,400

extra police to patrol duty from other jobs in an effort to stop the bloody teenage clashes that have claimed four lives in a week.

He announced the move Monday night, and at the same time released statistics showing a steady increase in youthful crime in the city.

The figures on arrests for people under 21 since the year began show 57 for murder or manslaughter and 197 for rape.

Four youths were charged with homicide in the latest outbreak, the fatal stabbing of two 16-year-old boys in a playground Sunday.

Marijuana Offered
Police said the trouble started when an 18-year-old boy offered marijuana to the 39-year-old mother of another boy. Police are looking for several others, including the leader of the attack who wore a black cape.

Police gave this version: The gang was out to revenge a supposed insult to Jose (Frenchy) Cordero, 18. He was one of the four charged with homicide.

Cordero was walking along the street in Manhattan's west side about a month ago when he saw Mrs. Eleanor Diaz, 39, sitting on the steps outside a tenement.

She said Frenchy, a boy with a lot of bushy black hair, long sideburns and a receding chin, offered her some marijuana, and she refused.

Argument Develops

Just then her son John, 18, came along, heard about the offer, and an argument developed. Diaz apparently got the better of the argument, and Cordero felt insulted.

Cordero later rounded up some friends and went looking for Diaz. When they couldn't find him, they attacked the others. Robert Young and Anthony Krzesinski were stabbed to death.

Others arrested Monday on homicide charges in the case were Rogelio Soto, 17, like Cordero, a laborer; and Francisco Cruz and Nestor Hernandez, both 18-year-old factory workers.

Five other youths were held for unlawful assembly. Diaz and two men whom police said had information in the case were held in $50,000 bail each as material witnesses. Police said all held are Puerto Ricans.

An assistant district attorney said Diaz' life would be in danger if he remained free.

Indignation Mounts
A mounting tide of indignation followed the senseless killings.

There was pressure for a 10 p.m. curfew for juveniles. A judge said "The streets of New York have become a jungle."

Vacationing Mayor Robert F. Wagner called a meeting of city officials for Thursday at city hall to seek ways to curb young hoodlums.

Kennedy said the extra police will be on the streets in "trouble spots" during the danger hours—from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m..

Widow of Poison Victim, Roomer Apply For Marriage License

Janesville — (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Chapman, 38, whose husband died of poisoning in a Madison hospital last Sept. 3, and Albert Frye, 39, a roomer in her Milton Junction home, have applied for a marriage license.

Both were witnesses at an inquest May 26 into the death of Roger Chapman, 43. A coroner's jury had established that Chapman died of arsenic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. Mark Farnum said Monday an investigation into the death still is being conducted.

Four Gunmen Take 75,000 Vaccine Shots

Montreal — (AP) — Health officials were puzzled and shocked today by the theft of 75,000 shots of emergency Salk vaccine sent here to help check a polio epidemic.

Officials said four masked gunmen who robbed a research center of 10,000 vials yesterday would have a hard time selling the vaccine—even though it is valued at $50,000.

The vaccine must be kept at 40 degrees Fahrenheit or it will degenerate after 48 hours. If given then it could cause a violent reaction, but doctors said it would cloud over and could be spotted easily.

Officials said the theft is a severe blow to the anti-polio campaign. "Children will be the victims," said Dr. Adelard Groulx, head of Montreal's health department.

The vaccine was sent from Toronto for 59 municipal clinics planning to give second shots to children and teenagers.

With 17 new cases admitted to Montreal hospitals over the weekend, the polio total for the year is 554. There have been 30 deaths.

Find Couple Asleep In Auto With Three Tots After Drinking

Madison — (AP) — An airman and his wife will be charged with child neglect and drunkenness today for taking their three little children on a drinking spree, Dist. Atty. Joseph Bloodgood said.

Arland Rogers told authorities remorse over the death of a baby daughter last Friday led him to take his wife and children to a tavern. Rogers and his wife were found asleep in an auto in a tavern parking lot Sunday. Their children were in the back seat.

The youngsters, 2, 3, and 6 years, were taken to a hospital. Physicians said the 2-year-old's body was covered with a rash.

Police accompanied the parents to their daughter's funeral Monday.

Christianity Losing Ground Compared to Population Increase

International Church Convention Speakers Plea for More Unity

Denver — (AP) — In proportion to the world's population gains, Christianity is losing ground. It is a relatively shrinking faith.

This fact — and some action and ideas on countering it—today occupied the International Convention of Christian churches (Disciples of Christ).

It charted a tough, ambitious drive of its own, aimed at quadrupling its work and expenditures in the next 10 years, and its leaders stressed a plea for greater Christian unity.

Lack of it has hurt the cause everywhere, said businessman Charles Kinder Green of Cheshire, England, president of the world convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples).

Church Divisions
"Christ's purpose for His world is constantly being frustrated by the divisions in His church," he said in an address prepared for nearly 9,000 church representatives here.

Their U.S. movement, now 2 million strong, stemmed from the view that all who accept Christ's divinity should stand arm-in-arm, and not let man-made creeds or individual differences separate them.

Such mutual commitment "is an obligation laid upon all Christians," said the Rev. Dr. Richard M. Pope, a Lexington, Ky., theologian. "But it is our particular vocation. 'It is a holy task that God has set before us.'"

The picture of Christianity's diminishing scope in the world was traced yesterday by the Rev. Ralph T. Palmer, head of the church's missionary selection and training department.

Noting that the world's 835 million Christians constitute only one-third of the world's 2½-billion population, he said:

"A disturbing fact seldom recognized by westerners is that Christianity is becoming increasingly a minority religion."

He cited studies showing the Christian population is growing only a third as fast as the overall population, with the highest birth rates in Asia where Christianity is weakest.

Challenge Christianity
Also, he said, atheistic communism now rules 37 per cent of the world's inhabitants, and in addition, Buddhists and Moslems are becoming "More aggressive in their evangelism," and challenging Christianity in many areas.

In the missionary field, he said, "a united approach" by all Christians is essential, if their work is to be effective amidst the present ferment of competing "isms."

In a related vein, the assembly voted to ask the state department to ban shipment of publications containing liquor advertisements to Asia, India, Pakistan and other near and far eastern areas where public sentiment resents it.

Green said the church also must cease being "The home after the 69-year-old Vance underwent an abdominal operation in Walter Reed Army medical center.

After spending most of his life with the Studebaker corporation, Vance retired as its president in 1954 and became chairman of the executive committee of Studebaker-Packard. A year later, President Eisenhower named him to the commission. The term was to expire next June 30.

of privilege and the bulwark of reaction" if it is to spread its influence in other lands.

However, Dr. A. Dale Fiers, of Indianapolis, head of the church's missionary society, said that despite the obstacles of "revolutionary change," the church has made encouraging strides abroad in the past year.

Number of mission-supported churches in 11 areas increased 20.6 per cent, he said, while membership in them rose 8.3 per cent, and the number of self-supporting national churches in the areas increased 29 per cent.

He noted the church now supports the work of 244 missionaries and 2,146 national workers abroad.

Hopes are to double the number of missionaries during the 1960-to-1970 period, which the church has designated as a "Decade of Decision" for an intensive expansion drive.

The goals include establishment of 1,500 new churches, and gradual upping of the per capita giving up members from the present average 2.5 per cent of income to a full tithe—10 per cent—which would boost annual church income from $84½ million to nearly $500 million.

Nikita Puts Emphasis on Peace, Culture

Moscow — (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev is putting the emphasis on peace and culture in selecting traveling companions for his trip to the United States next month. He is leaving behind all military and technical advisers.

Four of the literary figures expected to go with the Soviet premier were honored yesterday by the Soviet-sponsored World Council of Peace on the 10th anniversary of the movement.

Silver medals were presented to Mikhail Sholokhov, author of the novel "And Quiet Flows the Don"; Alexei Adubei, son-in-law of Khrushchev and editor in chief of the government newspaper Izvestia; Ilya Ehrenburg, a top Soviet journalist who has traveled widely in the west, and Alexander Kornichuk, author of the hit play "Wings."

At the invitation of President Eisenhower the Soviet premier is taking his family with him to the United States—his wife Nina, son Sergei, 24, and two daughters, Julia, in her early 40s and Rada, about 30.

Cyclist Headed From Chicago to Upper Michigan

Millwaukee — (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Richard Ekstrom of Chicago, pedaled northward from Milwaukee Monday night. He's headed for a relative's farm in Upper Michigan, some 300 miles from home.

Richard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ekstrom, had only $3 when he arrived in town and found that the spokes of his bicycle wheels were breaking.

Cy Luczyko, the owner of a bicycle repair shop, fixed the wheels without charge, then took Richard home to dinner to fatten him up for the rest of the journey.

Richard, who said his destination is Daggett, Mich., left home at 4 a.m. Monday. He'll return to Chicago in the family car.

Stag in London Like, Some of His Sharpest Critics To be Convivial Chums Tonight

BY COLIN FROST

London — (AP) — The smoke of good cigars wafts gently through the chandeliers above the dining table of London's Winfield house. The brandy passes, and the room hums with talk.

At the head of the table sits President Eisenhower. Around him are 23 of his British associates from the days of World War II.

That will be the scene tonight when the President gives a stag dinner for his wartime colleagues at the residence of U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

Since the war days, though, a number of books have been written and speeches made in which the old chums have given frank opinions about each other.

Some of the opinions have been highly critical. And tonight several of the critics meet their targets face to face.

The imaginary conversation that follows is constructed from the memoirs and other public statements. If the guests said to each other what they have written or said at a distance, the talk might go this way:

Poles Apart
Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "Ike and I were poles apart when it came to conduct of the war. He thought we British weren't doing our share of the fighting, and he said so."

Maj. Gen. Sir Francis de Guignand: (Monty's wartime chief of staff): "Why on earth do you keep saying how much you like Ike but still go on attacking him."

Monty: "I sent him a Christmas card, much warmer than I sent anybody else, and he never acknowledged it."

Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke (chief of the imperial general staff when Eisenhower was supreme allied commander): "Eisenhower had never even commanded a battalion in action. No wonder he was at a loss what to do."

Sir Winston Churchill: "gentle never had any ideas of their own. Whenever I raised ideas they raised nothing but objections."

Alanbrooke: "Winston sometimes thinks one thing one minute and another at the next. He is quite incorrigible and I am exhausted."

Monty: "You can't win battles unless you are feeling well. I've a feeling the U.S. leadership has slipped a bit. Soldiers should stay out of politics. The same man can't do both."

Alanbrooke: "He (Eisenhower) caused me great anxiety. I had little confidence in his ability to handle the situation."

Eisenhower: "I've been criticized by everybody who can write a book."

Monty: "I am awfully sad if I have lost the friendship of that great good man it will be very distressing to me."

Eisenhower: "Why does he have to do it? Why can't he wait until we're all dead?"

Visit to Two Paper Mills Feature Tour of U.S. by Finnish Legislator

Neenah — Since 80 per cent of Finland's resources are wood products, including pulp and paper, visits to two Twin City paper industries, the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Appleton and the Forest Products laboratory at Madison will be highlights on the 6-week visit of Matti Kaleva-Kekkonen of Finland to this country.

Kekkonen, son of the Finnish president, is a member of the Finnish parliament as representative of the Agrarian party of that country. The Agrarian party is one of six political parties in Finland and has all but one of the cabinet posts. An independent has the other.

The 31-year-old Finnish legislator, a lawyer by profession, arrived in Neenah Saturday afternoon and has been busy since his arrival. He was pleased with two visits to dairy farms in this area since the dairy industry is one of Finland's major industries.

A sauna, or Finnish bath, at the John Puuri farm near Fremont he described as being most enjoyable since he had not had a sauna since leaving his native country.

Visits Dairy Farms

The other dairy farm he visited was that of the David Cowlings near Neenah. American dairy farms are much bigger than those in Finland, he mentioned, both in size of the farm and in the number of cattle.

The average farmer in northern Finland has from three to eight cows while the southern Finnish farmer has a few more. Many families have one cow and earn their livelihood in a different manner, he added.

Cheese is one of Finland's major exports along with the various wood products as pulp, paper and newsprint, glassware and motorboats. England is Finland's biggest customer but the exports are sent throughout the entire world and the United States.

Kekkonen toured Kimberly-Clark corporation mills Monday morning and Marathon division plants in the afternoon.

The Institute of Paper Chemistry visit is scheduled for 8 a. m. today, followed by a trip to Madison where the state capitol, university and Forest Products laboratory are on his schedule.

He will leave Neenah Wednesday morning with visits to Fitchburg, Mass., Buffalo, New York city and back to Washington on his itinerary. He will leave for Finland Sept. 18 which will get him back a few days after the parliament resumes its sessions.

Guest of the Menasha Kiwanis club at its Monday night meeting was Matti Kaleva-Kekkonen, right, a Finnish legislator and son of the Finnish president and former premier, who is spending 3½ days in the Fox Cities area. With him are Frank Rosch, left, chairman of the club's public and business affairs committee, and William Platt, president.

Schuelke Stress Glass Electric Radiant Heating

Menasha — Area people can now afford to heat their homes electrically with all the healthful comfort of controlled "sunshine heat," Herbert Schuelke of H. Schuelke and Co., Route 2, disclosed recently.

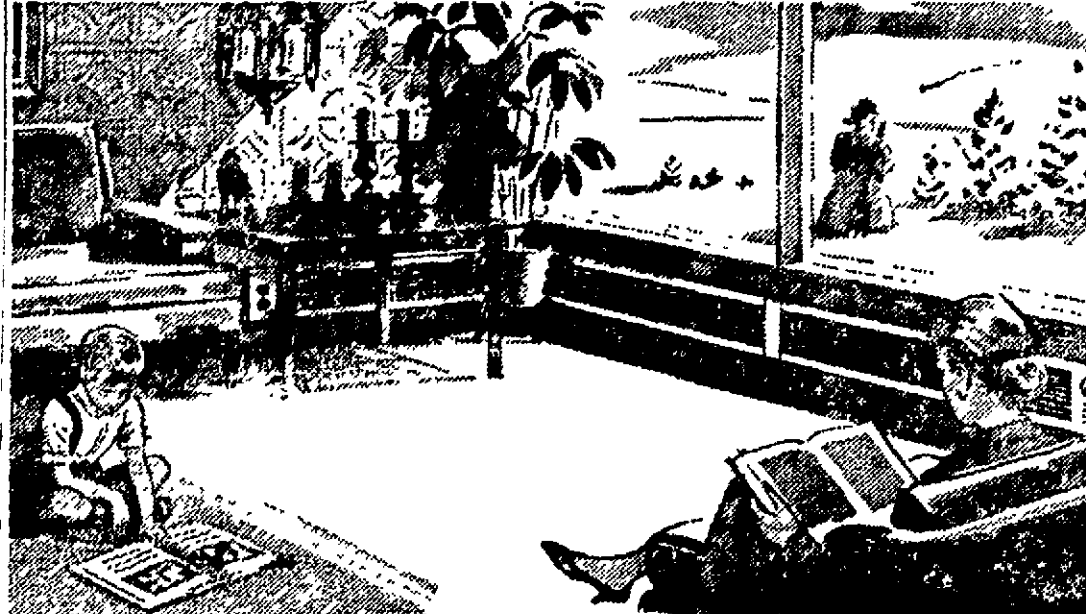

Berko Electric Manufacturing Co., pioneer in glass electric radiant heating, has developed an efficient heating system that gives a home the luxuriant warmth of June sunshine throughout the year.

H. Schuelke and Co., glass heat specialists, is the area dealer for the Berko system.

Fox Citizens interested in further information about this new system can dial the H. Schuelke company at RE 3-8022.

In an interview, Schuelke explained it this way: If a home were one huge plate glass window, and the sun never stopped shining, the homeowner would have the perfect heating system. Now Berko Glass Electric Radiant Heat furnishes that kind of heat.

Electrically-heated Pyrex glass panels are controlled by individual room thermostats to give sunshine — thru-glass heat with precise control. The entire Berko system consists of these unobtrusive glass heating panels in attractive,

Trinity Repeats As League Champ

Bests St. John 14-7; Winners
Hit 4 Homers

Menasha — Finding the range for four home runs, Trinity bested St. John 14-7 Saturday night to garner its second straight Menasha Church Softball league championship. The game was played at the Neenah Recreation diamond.

Bob Brisco belted two homers for the winners, Willie Karnopp had a grand-slammer and E. T. Hansman clubbed the fourth.

St. John led 5-2 at the end of an inning but couldn't maintain its advantage and Trinity went ahead for good in the fourth.

Trinity scored twice in the first on a single by Gene Rasmussen, Karnopp's double, a walk and Darrell Verkuilen's single.

St. John Lakes Lead
St. John came up with five in the bottom of the frame on Mattern's single, doubles by Jerry Koslowski and Gene Heindl, two walks and an error.

Brisco cut the margin to 5-3 with a bases-empty homer in the third. Trinity used singles by John Baldauf and Bob Hanke, three walks and Karnopp's 4-run homer for five markers in the fourth.

St. John shaved the margin to 8-7 with two in the fifth on Koslowski's double plus an error, a walk and a hit batsman.

Trinity Ices Game
Trinity iced the game with six in the top of the seventh. Roger Westphal and Marv Zempel hit doubles, Hansman and Brisco had homers and Baldauf and Hanke added singles.

Hanke, Baldauf, Brisco and Karnopp all had two hits and every Trinity player collected at least one. Koslowski had three and Mattern two for St. John. John Swiechowski was the losing pitcher.

Twin City Wheel Again Attempts To Close Slate

Neenah — The Twin City Industrial Softball league will make another attempt to close its regular schedule with four makeup games tonight. The quartet was called off Thursday because of wet grounds.

Main Office and Neenah Foundry vie at 6:30 p.m. at the Recreation diamond and Gilbert Paper and Lakeview will meet at 8 p.m. Jefferson park encounters are Wooden Ware versus Strange Paper at 6:30 p.m. and the Marathon Rambler versus Bergstrom's at 8 p.m.

Still on the docket after tonight's games are a National division playoff game between the Marathon Ramblers and Lakeview with that winner facing the American section champion Banta company team for the league's grand championship.

American division standings, with only the Strange's-Wooden Ware game still on the slate, are Banta's 8-1, Strange's 6-2, Soo Line 5-4, Wooden Ware 3-5 and Neenah Paper and Tissue Mills 2-7. Lakeview has 8-0 to top the National wheel. Gilbert Paper holds 6-2, Main Office 4-4, Neenah Foundry and Ramblers 3-5, Marathon Packagers 3-6 and Bergstrom's 2-6.

Eureka Garners Championship in A-M League Play

Oshkosh — Former Winnebago League league entry Eureka won the championship of the eastern division of the Adams-Marquette league by besting Green Lake 7-2 Sunday afternoon.

The victory gave the Eurekans an 11-1 record. It now meets Adams - Friendship, western division victor, for the grand championship next Monday at Dellwood.

In other weekend games involving former Bagoland league entries, Berlin edged Montello 3-2 and Zion was beaten by Kingston 19-10. Zion finished with a 6-4 record, Berlin had 5-5 and Poygan 4-8.

D. E. McDonald, Former County Judge, Dies

served as he neared his 90th birthday.

He entered Oshkosh State college in 1889 and then taught rural schools until entering an Oshkosh law office in 1895 to study law. He stayed a year there and then attended the University of Chicago law school from which he was graduated in 1898. He returned to Oshkosh in 1900 to practice law.

Judge McDonald served as Winnebago county district attorney from 1908 to 1916 and in that time never missed a minute of any of the county board sessions. He also checked every bill paid by the county to make sure no erroneous payments were made.

"While I was district attorney, I would lock myself up in jail with some of the prisoners, just to talk with them, to learn their problems and to see how they felt. But I never used a thing I learned from them or anything they told me in court against them."

Never Asked Conviction
"Nor did I ever ask for a conviction of anyone whom I prosecuted. I did not feel it was my job to say to the jury that the prisoner should be convicted. I presented the evidence and if the jury felt the man was guilty, it was up to them to convict him."

Declining to run for a fifth term as district attorney in 1916, he was presented a gold watch by the county board of which he became a member and its chairman several months later. He was appointed to the county judge post in 1922 and was reelected each time, serving 33 years on the bench.

Not once in those six terms as county judge did he have opposition.

Honored on Retirement

When he stepped down from the bench and swore in his successor Dec. 31, 1955, the courtroom was filled with attorneys who came to pay tribute to the retiring jurist whose 33 years as county judge was the second longest in Wisconsin history. Several times he was president of the Wisconsin County Judges association.

Prior to being named county judge, he was a United States court commissioner for the eastern Wisconsin district from 1900 to 1922. He also served as a circuit court commissioner during that period and also after his retirement from the bench. His public service also includes being an advisory board member of the state industrial commission and chairman of the advisory council of the county draft board.

To Lead Hitters;
Also Tops Hurlers

Menasha — Playing its second season since resuming its baseball program, the Lenz-Gazek post Junior Legion team concluded with another winning record.

The Menashans won 12 games, lost seven and tied one, giving them a 2-year slate of 25 wins, 14 losses and a tie under Coach Bill Ciske. The record included 6-7-1 in Fox River Valley Junior Legion league play, 2-1 in tournaments and 4-0 in exhibitions. One of the losses counted both in league and tournament competition.

The Lenz-Gazek post entry defeated Appleton and Little Chute three times apiece, New Holstein and the Senior League All-Stars once and split with Kaukauna, Winnebago, Mayville and Kimberly. Other losses were to Fond du Lac twice and Oshkosh once. The tie also was with Oshkosh.

.275 Team Average
The Menasha swingers posted a .275 team batting average compared to .243 for their opponents. They scored 160 runs to the foes' 123.

Bill Becker posted a .412 overall batting mark to lead the regulars, the identical average with which he won the championship of the league's northern division. Gary Shriver hit .438 but was only at the plate 16 times compared to 68 for Becker.

Pitching Record
Becker was the leading pitcher with six wins, three losses and a tie. Others who saw mound action were Rummel, Kaufert, Rueckl, Shukoski, Jensen and Ray Dietz.

Members of this year's squad who will be eligible next year include Koerner, Dietz, Sheets, Kaufert, Becker, Snyder, Shukoski and Matowitz.

2nd Round Features On Docket in Tourney

7 Weekend Winners, Sheboygan Remain In Menasha Field

Menasha — An attraction of four outstanding second round contests are upcoming in the Twin City Open Softball tournament next Friday and Saturday at Jefferson park.

Seven winners from last Saturday and Sunday plus Sheboygan, which received a first round bye, will see action.

Jitter and Joe's will collide with Sheboygan at 7 p.m. Friday in the first contest. Jitter's whipped Larry's and Wally's of Oshkosh 4-0 in its initial meet start.

Other Games

Friday's 8 p.m. game will feature Gay Spot of Appleton and Wertsch's of Oshkosh. Gay Spot, composed of players who performed for AI's 215 club of Green Bay last year and played in the Memorial day meet under the Park 'n' Shop banner, and Wertsch's, a tournament favorite, both scored impressive first round wins.

Owl of Neenah and Lom's of Green Bay are matched in Saturday's 7 p.m. contest and Pizza Parlor of Oshkosh and Subway of Appleton will square off at 8 p.m.

Semi-Finals

The Jitter's - Sheboygan and Gay Spot - Wertsch's winners meet at 2 p.m. Sunday in a semi-final game and Saturday night's victors collide in the 3 p.m. contest. The third place and championship games are set for 7 and 8:15 p.m. Sunday night.

If there is a Friday rainout, games probably will be played Saturday afternoon while Saturday or Sunday postponements would move the meet back into Monday.

State Owns Beds, Water of Navigable Lakes, Streams

The bed or bottom of every lake. This alternative navigable lake and the water parently has not been too in it are owned by the state, practical, perhaps because of in Wisconsin in trust for all the expense of acquiring the citizens for navigation and right of way and construct-recreation.

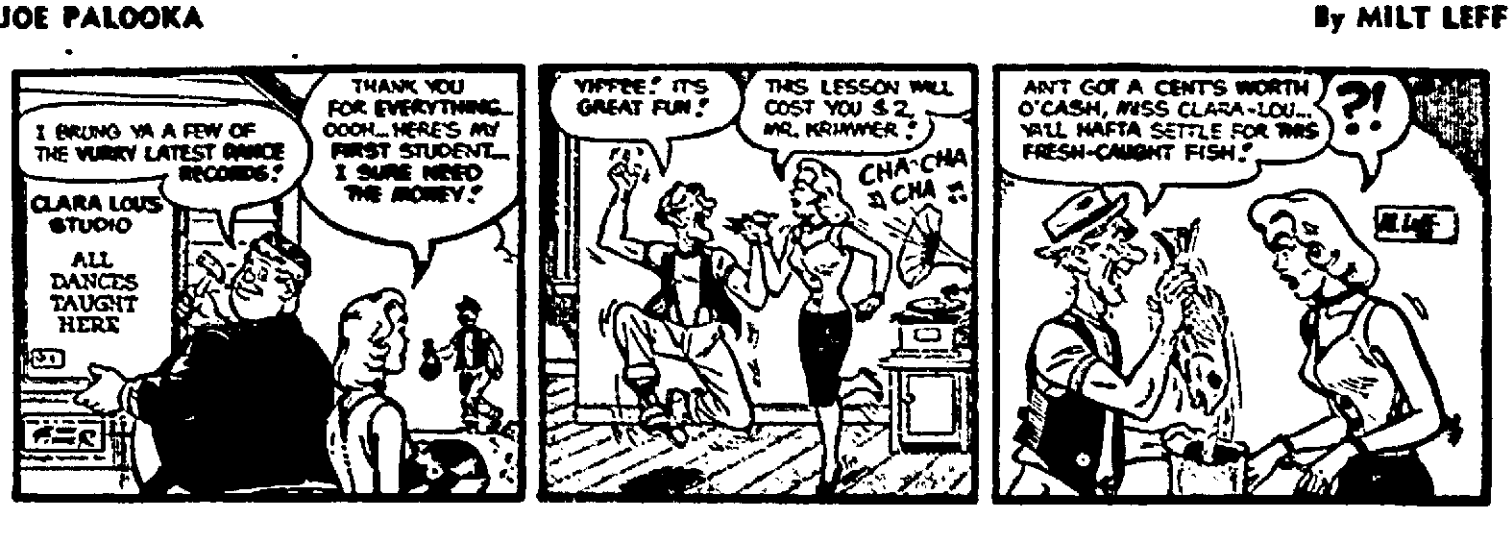

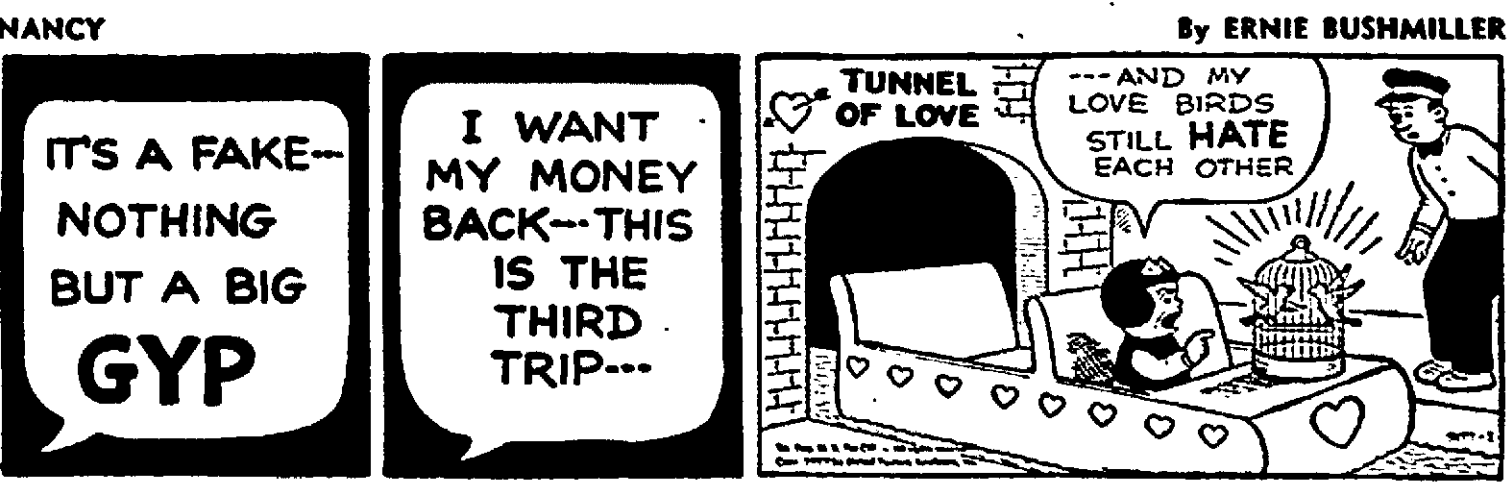

The same is true of navigable streams, except that access to such a lake by an in the owner of land adjoining let or outlet stream, if nav- the stream has a qualified title, or through the use of the to the bed to the center aircraft which can land and of the stream, subject to the take off from the surface, rights of the state as trustee.

No Private Water

Where a navigable lake is completely surrounded by lake or stream may be used privately owned land, there by riparian owners (those are some who refer to the who own land abutting in the lake as "private." This is not water) subject to compliance correct as far as the lake it, with any applicable statutory self is concerned. The lake, if provisions for particular uses, navigable, is a public lake, but is incapable of private. The problem is one of the ownership. The theory is that public obtaining access to the the water used is returned to lake, as one cannot lawfully the lake or stream in like trespass across privately own- quantity and purity.

Road to Lake

The problem presented is, there are strict controls over erecting dams or struc- tures on navigable lakes or one that has caused much streams and removing or discussion. One possible solu- dredging materials, such as tion is to lay out a road to gravel, from lake bottoms.

"Red Spy" is a tag game to play when your gang holds an outing. It requires no preparation except a few small slips of paper, all blank except one which bears the words, "Red Spy" (Figure 1).

When you are ready to play, have the leader explain that each player will be given a slip of paper, that all but one slip will be blank and that this one will indicate the holder is a spy. The other players, who are counter-spies, must try to capture the spy. No player is permitted to show another player his slip. Only the leader who passes out the slips can demand that a player do so.

As the slips are being distributed the players must watch each other to see proves him to be the enemy whose expression may give a spy. The game is over. But hint that he received the slip if his paper is blank, he is identifying him as the spy, not the spy and the counter-spies may confer and decide suspect.

McHan to Start Against Giants Saturday Night

Lombardi Says It's Still Toss-Up Among His 4 QBs

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent Sports Editor
Green Bay — Now it's Lamar McHan's turn to start at quarterback for the Packers. Coach Vince Lombardi, picking the former Cardinal veteran to open against the Giants in Bangor, Me., Saturday night, said "He's the only one who hasn't started yet."

Bart Starr opened against the Chicago Bears in the first non-league game, which the Bears lost, 19-16. Babe Parilli started against the 49ers — a 24-17 winner for Green Bay, and sophomore Joe Francis opened against the Eagles last Saturday night, with the Packers winning, 45-28.

Lombardi was pleasantly surprised by Francis' performance in Portland, Ore., which is Joe's home territory.

Handy Joe hadn't been looking good in practice with his passing but he was remarkably on-target vs. Philly. "Maybe he's a game player," Lombardi pointed out after practice Monday, indicating a type of player who looks bad in practice but good in the game.

Vince noted, however, that Francis had looked good in practice Monday morning "so maybe he got his confidence from the game."

Francis' showing presented a wonderful complication in Lombardi's quarterback plans, prompting Vince to remark today: "It's still a toss-up among the four of them."

The Bays have three non-league games left. After the Giants game, they play the Redskins in Winston-Salem, N.C., Sept. 12 and the Steelers in Minneapolis Sept. 20.

11 Touchdowns
The Packers have scored 11 touchdowns—10 by the offense and one (directly) by the defense. The defense, though the unit set up several TDs on interceptions and fumble recoveries, counted on Bob Freeman's 20-yard runback of an interception against the Eagles.

Of those 10 offensive TDs, Francis presided at four, Starr three, McHan two and Parilli one. That may come as a surprise in view of the fact that Joe played in just two games last year (for any length) and saw no action this year until the Eagle test, other than the squad battle.

Francis worked touchdown marches of 97, two at 80, and 23 yards. Starr had moves of 21 and 62 against the Bears and 42 vs. the Eagles. McHan performed TDs on advances of 34 and 6 against the 49ers. Parilli's came on a 73-yard drive against the 49ers.

The four QBs tried 53 passes and completed 29 for 436 yards, three touchdowns and

Moon Homer Puts Dodgers 1 Game Out

Los Angeles—A strike-out record set more than 21 decades ago by the unforgettable Dizzy Dean has fallen before a fusillade of fast balls and curves fired by a young man who not long ago was most forgettable.

Sandy Koufax, who wasn't even born when Dizzy struck out 17 for the St. Louis Cardinals one day in 1933, fanned 18 Monday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco, 5-2, and turned the National league race back into a tangle.

The Dodger left-hander not only broke Dean's National league record of 17 strikeouts, but also tied the modern major league record set in 1938 by an Iowa farm boy named Bob Feller.

Swing at Bad Pitches
Koufax had this to say of his considerable accomplishment: "I'm very glad to set a record. But I'm a lot happier that we won the ball game. We've got a chance to go all the way, and I'm glad I was able to do something."

"I never saw a game in which batters swung at so many bad balls. I couldn't see why the Giants were going for them—but they did."

Koufax, who fanned 15 of the last 20 men he faced, drew a standing ovation from the crowd of 82,794 when he walked off the field after the top of the ninth.

He was spared further labor by Wally Moon, who broke up the game with a 3-run homer in the bottom of the ninth.

One Game Behind
Moon drove Al Worthington's third pitch into the left field seats and the Dodgers were only one game behind the league-leading Giants.

Koufax, 23, was a forgotten man on the Dodger staff early this season. After a disappointing start he suddenly started throwing strikes. He now is 8-4 and has 150 strikeouts in 127 innings.

Since the turn of the century, only Feller had struck out 18 men in a 9-inning game before last night. And only two pitchers, Jack Coombs and Warren Spahn, ever struck out that many in a game that went extra innings.

31 in 2 Games
Coombs did it twice, needing 24 innings the first time, then doing it again in 16. It took Spahn 15 innings.

Feller's record was set by Cleveland's 1-time blazing right-hander in a 4-1 loss to Detroit.

Koufax also bettered the major league record for two

Foxes Extend Win Streak To 5, Take Over 3rd Place

Bruckbauer Stifles Cedar Rapids For 4th Shutout; Vila Socks 4 Hits to Gain Batting Lead

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

In the same way that Wall street is the headquarters for high finance and Fifth avenue is the center of high fashion, Appleton's Spencer street has become the mecca for high excitement in Three-I league baseball.

The Jack McKee-managed Fox Cities, seeking to achieve the highest finish (for either a half-season or full season race) of any Goodland field-based pro team in history, did it again Monday night.

The Foxes vanquished Cedar Rapids, 6-0, to continue their late-season gallop and to set a new 1959 team high for consecutive victories—five. The win, eighth in a row at Goodland field, elevates the Foxes to third place—just a half game shy of runner-up Sioux City and four games behind pace-setting Des Moines.

Fred Bruckbauer, an outstanding candidate for a league rookie-of-the-year honors, "curved out" another masterpiece as he extended the Foxes' amazing pitching record to 45 innings. In five straight route-going performances, Bruckbauer (who's had two of them), Dick Griffith, Hector Maestri and Bert Gunther have allowed a collective total of only three earned runs and four runs, altogether.

In pitching the fifth straight victory and fourth shutout of his abbreviated 3-1 campaign, Bruckbauer, tied the Foxes' club record for the most wins in a season. (Rene Nodarse, also a member of the 1959 Fox

Des Moines, Soos Rained Out; Meet Twice Tonight

From AP Dispatches
The first place Des Moines Demons and runnerup Sioux City Soos play a crucial doubleheader in Des Moines tonight in the Three-I league.

The clubs' Monday night contest was rained out.

Meanwhile, Burlington trimmed Green Bay, 5-1, to knock the Bluejays into fourth place, under the fast-rising Fox Cities Foxes. The Foxes blanked Cedar Rapids, 6-0.

Lincoln whipped Topeka, 7-2. Ken Fisher batted in three runs for Burlington and 4,890 fans at Topeka saw Lincoln's Mike Hersberger hit a 3-run homer and Ron Bloodworth hold the Reds to seven hits.

Braves Recall 'Hawk' Taylor

Outfielder Played With Cedar Rapids In 3-1 Last Year

Milwaukee—A Bob Hawk Taylor, signed two years ago for a bonus estimated at $100,000, was called up Monday by the Milwaukee Braves who are seeking replacements for injured outfielders.

Taylor, originally a catcher, has been playing in the outfield for the last six weeks with Atlanta in the Southern association. He's batted .296 in 95 games in the Class AA league. Taylor, 20, is expected to join the Braves before tonight's games with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Milwaukee outfielders Bill Bruton and Wes Covington have been out for the past several weeks. Covington has torn ankle ligaments and will not return this season. Bruton has a bruised knee.

Filling Gaps
First basemen Joe Adcock and Mickey Vernon, second baseman Felix Mantilla and reserve outfielder veteran Andy Pafko have been filling the gaps.

Milwaukee General Manager John McHale said that because Covington is out for the rest of the campaign, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick had given the Braves permission to call up Taylor before the end of the Southern association season.

Taylor, a schoolboy sensation at Metropolis, Ill., was signed by the Braves two years ago. He played only four games with the parent club in 1958 but averaged .297 at the plate in 106 games at Cedar Rapids, Iowa in the Class B Three-I league.

A Tired Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers acknowledges the wild cheers of 82,794 fans as he walks to the dressing room after striking out 18 San Francisco Giants Monday night for a National league record. The Dodgers won the game, 5-2, on a ninth inning home run by Wally Moon. Koufax also tied the major league strikeout record set by Bob Feller.

'We Must Work Fast,' Dillon Tells Candidates

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Nattily decked out in new bright orange practice jerseys, the Appleton High school football team opened 1959 practice Monday.

The Terrers, 80 strong, were put through a lengthy and vigorous workout under a warm late-August sun which aided in the job of melting excess weight. The temperature was in the low 70s, fortunately for the perspiring gridders a good 15 to 20 degrees cooler than a week ago.

Once Daily
Head Coach Ade Dillon had his charges run the gamut of practice activities—calisthenics, work on blocking and tackling, signal drills and passing and kicking maneuvers.

"We don't have much time so we have to learn fast," the veteran coach told candidates. The club could scrimmage today.

The Terrers have lost the usual week of twice-per-day drills they usually have before the opening of school.

Braves' Buhl Faces Phils

Schoendienst Will be In Uniform Tonight

Milwaukee—A Veteran infielder "Red" Schoendienst was in constant touch with uniform today and returns to the active player list for the first time since the 1958 World series.

Schoendienst, regarded by many as the top second baseman in the major leagues, has recovered from his bout with tuberculosis. His recovery was speeded by surgery coupled with heavy doses of antibiotics at a St. Louis hospital.

Red Is Surprised
A 36-year-old native of Germantown, Ill., Schoendienst was as surprised as anyone when his physician gave him permission to rejoin the team.

"My doctor said I'm ready for anything," Schoendienst said when he heard the news last week. "I thought he was going to keep me away from Milwaukee until next year but my progress has been faster than a lot of us expected."

Milwaukee's front office doesn't expect Schoendienst to step in tonight against Philadelphia and cure the club's ills in the tight National league pennant drive.

All the Braves expect from Schoendienst is that his return might provide the spark the team needs to pull out of the doldrums.

"Red will be out there tonight," General Manager John McHale said, "and he'll be available for the game with the Philadelphia Phillies. It's good to have him back."

When Schoendienst left the club to enter the hospital, Manager Fred Haney made no secret of the fact that he would be sorely missed. Dur-

Neale Fraser Returns Davis Cup to Australia

Defeats MacKay In Completion of Last Singles Match

Forest Hills, N.Y. — Neale Fraser, well-to-do son of a prominent Melbourne judge, waited patiently six years for his chance to play in a Davis cup challenge round.

When it came he made the most of it. Just as Alex Olmedo practically single-handedly won the coveted cup —symbolic of world amateur tennis supremacy—for the United States last year, Fraser snatched it back virtually all by himself this year.

Fraser

The handsome left-hander completed a 3-2 Australian triumph Monday when he whipped Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 6-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The first two sets were played Sunday but darkness intervened and the rest of the match had to be put off.

Both Singles
Fraser thus wound up winning both his singles matches—against Olmedo and MacKay—and teamed with Roy Emerson to capture the doubles from Olmedo and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis. Olmedo and MacKay both beat Roy Laver for the two U.S. points.

It was a solid Australian victory, and Harry Hopman's lads deserved to win. They whipped America's ace-in-the-hole, Olmedo. Even Hopman was inclined to concede two singles to Olmedo.

So no matter who the U.S. sends down under 16 months from now to try to regain the cup, the Aussies will be favored. Fraser will be around—he hasn't had any pro offers—and so will Laver, the Madison — A Coach, Milt Bruhn's workouts for his University of Wisconsin football team today are the first of 2-a-day drills for the next two weeks.

Bruhn has 23 lettermen, 18 of them seniors, in the group he hopes to have ready for the season opener Sept. 26 with Stanford.

A total of 64 hopefuls showed up Monday to draw equipment and take their physical exams for the 1959 season.

In the opener of the Philadelphia series, the Braves, now 21 games out of first place, will start with Bob Buhl, 11-8, while the Phillies will open with Don Cardwell, 8-7.

Giants Abandon Frank Gifford QB Experiment

Declare He's Too Valuable to Team at Halfback

BY MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Turns out Frank Gifford is too good to take over as the New York Giants quarterback — too good at halfback. That's the verdict from the Giant camp after three exhibition games and weeks of intensive training in which Gifford, an all-pro halfback, was given an opportunity to qualify as the No. 1 signal-caller. Al Sherman, Coach Jim Lee Howell's chief aide, summed it up.

"I think Frank could qualify as a quarterback but we had the understanding with him that value to the team would determine his position, and there's no doubt on that point. Who's better at halfback?"

"A Great Athlete" A versatile performer, Gifford is a triple threat from the halfback post, capable of running for the long-gainer, passing for a TD or breaking away to snare a pass.

"Gifford is a great athlete," said Howell, who directed the Giants to the Eastern division title last season. "If he had the experience, he'd be a great quarterback. But we're running short of time."

There are three other good reasons why Gifford flunked the test — quarterbacks Charlie Conerly, George Shaw and Lee Grosscup.

Conerly, in his twelfth season with the Giants, virtually clinched the starting quarterback role with his flawless passing and signal-calling as New York clobbered Detroit, 38-0, Saturday night.

Acquired from Baltimore where he was overshadowed by Johnny Unitas, Shaw likely will split the passing chores with the 34-year-old Conerly. "Shaw has looked very good," says Howell. "I like his throwing, his ball handling, and his generalship."

Grosscup, top Giant draft choice, made his debut in sensational fashion against the Lions, heaving a 55-yard scoring aerial. The former Utah star figures prominently in the Giants' future plans.

Koufax Fans 18 Giants For NL Record

consecutive games with a total of 31. He had fanned 13 in his last start against Philadelphia. Feller set the old record at 28, capping by his 18 in the final game of the 1958 season.

With Koufax (8-4) pitching his first complete game against the Giants, since he signed a $20,000 bonus with the Dodgers in 1954, the Dodgers swept the last two games in the 3-game series.

It was the only game scheduled in the NL and also out San Francisco's edge over third-place Milwaukee to 24 games. Fourth-place Pittsburgh trails by 34.

Koufax, passed over by the Giants five years ago after a wild performance in a workout, also bettered his own major league record for a night game (16), set last June against the Phils.

He did it against a batting order overloaded with right-handed hitters — supposed to be poison for lefties. Rookie Willie McCovey who broke a 1-1 tie with a fifth-inning homer, was the only left-hander Koufax faced.

In all, Koufax gave up seven hits — with the Giants scoring in the first on doubles by Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda — and walked but two. He struck out every Giant at least once, getting Jackie Brandt and losing pitcher Jack Sanford three times each and fanned the side in the ninth.

The Dodgers also managed seven hits, tying the Giants in the first on a walk, stolen base, passed ball and an infield out. They got even again in the eighth, when Moon walked, got to second on a sacrifice and scored on two wild pitches.

Moon then broke it up, slicing a pitch over the left field screen for his twelfth homer after Al Worthington had replaced Sanford following 1-out singles by Koufax and Gilliam.

Sanford (12-11) struck out seven, setting a 2-team major league record of 25.

Iowa QB Duel Begins

Purdue Will be Good, Declares Mollenkopf

Chicago —(U)— Big Ten football briefs:

Minneapolis—Sixty-eight of 70 expected candidates reported to the opening practice session for the Minnesota grid-ironers who hope, under Coach Murray Warmath, to improve on last year's 1-8 mark.

Lafayette, Ind. — Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf frankly told newsmen that his Boilermakers will be good this season, especially if several big sophomores come through at tackle.

Evanston, Ill. — Northwestern produced 63 candidates at the opening practice session, but notably absent was Al Kimbrough, No. 1 right halfback from Galesburg, Ill. He's still recovering from a leg injury.

Bloomington, Ind.—Indiana Coach Phil Dickens eyed his sophomore-heavy squad and declared "This season scares me. We have just too many ifs on this squad."

Iowa City, Iowa — Senior Olen Treadway and sophomore Wilburn Hollis began their battle for the top quarterbacking assignment on Iowa's defending Big Ten conference champions.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Seventy-seven candidates showed up for the University of Michigan football team, and Coach Bump Elliott, starting his first season at the Wolverine helm, said the squad will have its first scrimmage "Thursday."

"There's no sense fooling around," said the young coach. "We have a lot of work to do and we might as well find out in a hurry which of these guys are Big Ten players."

East Lansing, Mich.—Sixty-nine players, one of the smallest squads in years, reported to the Michigan State football camp. Coach "Duffy" Daugherty called it "an exciting time."

80 Terrors Open 1959 Grid Practice

They will drill once daily, after school, starting today and twice on Saturdays and Labor day.

The season starts two weeks from Friday at Menasha. Extensive pre-practice conditioning on their own by many key players, has helped alleviate the problems caused by less total pre-season practice. The group appeared to be one of the best-conditioned Appleton squads, at season's start, in years.

Quarterback John Nussbaum and fullback Cal Kluebs, expected to be among the workhorses of the Terror offense, were both among the pre-season drillers and it showed in their work Monday.

Other Members

Other members of the Monday's first unit Appleton backfield were junior Marv Hietpas at left half and senior Dave LaViolette at right half. Both were used more frequently on defense than offense last season.

Hietpas, one of the most gifted all-around athletes on the squad, runs hard with fair speed and looks like the best bet for an outside running threat. LaViolette will probably be the No. 1 punter. All four are lettermen.

The initial day's first unit line included five lettermen and two junior non-monogram winners.

Ends were baseball star Dick Wankey, a regular wingman last year, and junior rookie Wayne Polzin, a big boy who's considered a "corner." Tackles were vet Brian Zordell and JV graduate Bob Eich, brother of 1958 co-captain and all-Fox River Valley conference performer Joe Eich.

At the guards were lettermen Dick Heiss and Ron Toljefson while 2-year regular Tom Kottke was the center. Dillon emphasized that all positions were up for grabs and that he'd picked lineups early for convenience in workouts.

"The bigger boys and the lettermen get the first look but everyone will get a good chance," he said. "You may be on the fourth team today and the first string tomorrow."

Tackles were husky letterman Jim Manier and Dan King with non-lettered veteran Ron Finger at center. The backfield on the third unit consisted of Dick Bloomer at quarterback, Dennis Gillespie at fullback, Larry Handel at right half and transfer student Bill Hopkins at left half.

Junior Hopkins, a little fellow who played varsity ball in Indianapolis last season, is getting a shot at the deep position on kick-offs and punts. Dennis Garvey, the leading ground-gainer on the 1958 junior varsity, will be unable to report this season on doctor's orders. Bill Caesar, a speedy breakaway threat, and 190-pound fullback Dave Walter were two others who hadn't reported Monday.

Jim Brueggemann, a senior, is out for the season with a knee injury. Tackle Jon Holman wasn't on hand but he's drawn a suit and is expected to report.

The Terrors' twelfth letterman, defensive standout Ed

Felauer, a hulking junior, was also on hand Monday, looking bigger than ever.

Helping Dillon and Assistant Coach Herdis McCrary, Jr., with practice Monday were two former AHS all-conference stars. Jim Schulze, now regular quarterback at Lawrence college, worked with the backs. Dick Koepke, a regular varsity lineman as a frosh last fall at Lake Forest college, drilled the guards and tackles hard.

Midway through the workout, Dillon talked at length to the Terrors on attitude and such positive attributes as: positive thinking, proper training, optimism, patience and humility.

Foxes Beat Braves for 5th Straight du — who are shooting for the league batting title — drummajored the attack by collecting seven of the Foxes' 12 hits (all singles).

Vila rapped four straight hits after flying out in the first inning to take over the league lead with a .331 average. Green Bay's Tim Harkness, the erstwhile leader, has slipped to .324.

Condu also pulled ahead of Harkness to the .325 level with three singles (in addition to a walk). His bid for a perfect night was spoiled by John Stratton's leaping catch of a line drive.

Vila also drove in half the runs to raise his club-leading RBI total to 75.

If either Vila or Condu succeeded in his quest for the title the Foxes can boast two straight batting champs. "Polato" Pascual, who slapped a 2-run single last night, won the league's batting crown in the Foxes' inaugural year.

The Foxes broke through against starter Don Miller in the first inning in "Chicago White Sox" fashion — singles hitting, alert base running and capitalization, on opponents' mistakes. Condu singled to center. Ron Dibelius and Vila were retired. Then, on the hit-and-run, "Chuck" Weatherspoon singled to center, and Condu whizzed all the way home on the blow and center fielder Mack Jones' momentary bobble of the ball.

In the third, Condu hit a crisp, 1-out single to center. After Dibelius fanned, Miller wild-pitched Condu to second. Vila singled sharply to left, scoring Condu, who might have had a battle at the plate but for Ray Reed's slightly off-target pop.

The Foxes wrapped it up in a neat bundle with a 4-run sixth. With one out, Nate Oliver singled behind second. He was forced by Bruckbauer. Condu splashed another hit to center, and Dibelius walked to load the bases, whereupon Pascual sent two of the runners home by with a line shot past the pitcher's ears.

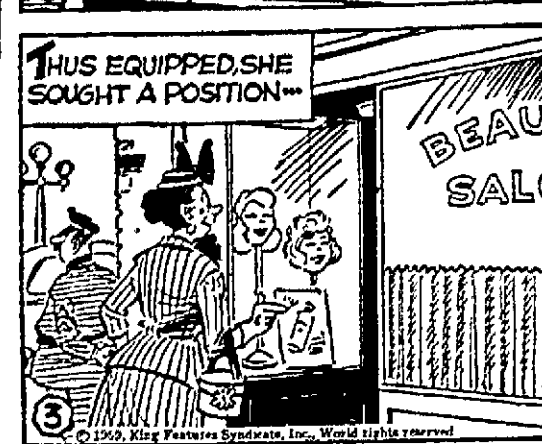

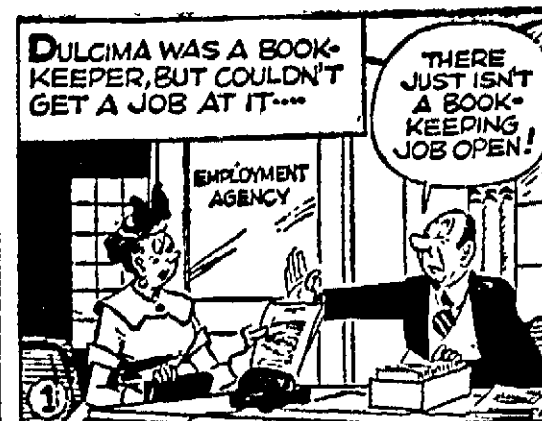

Tough As Nails Bruckbauer, who is 9-1 since July 14, yielded six hits and five walks but was tough as nails when he had to be. "Corky" Withrow got the first hit off him in the fourth but was erased in a double play, started by Dibelius on a fancy pick-off.

The Braves' biggest threats came in the fifth and the seventh when they had runners on first and second with nobody out each time. Bruckbauer took the steam out of the first threat with his split-second reaction and force-out throw to third on a sacrifice try.

In the seventh, an Oliver-to-Dibelius-to-Weatherspoon twin killing was the big play that kept the shutout intact.

West Indies Could Put Dent in U.S. Monopoly of Pan-Am Gold Medals

Chicago —(U)— The powerful United States' Pan-American games squad, owning 26 of 30 gold medals in the en-whiffs in his last 18 innings. . . Dibelius, playing his fourth different position in as many today's semi-final round of track and field.

The West Indies Federation nights, used his speed to make a rare second baseman's unsolicited putout at first base in the third. He picked up Raynew's grounder, and, noticing that Weatherspoon was pulled well off the bag, kept on coming and beat the runner to the bag. . . Pascual's neat, swooping scoop-up of Reed's hard-hit grounder in the second took a potential hit away from Cedar Rapids. . . Cedar Rapids' Dick Selinger also played a lot of third base last night. . . The Foxes now own a handsome 18-7 second-round record at home.

Of the 12 gold medals won by U. S. track athletes, two each have been captured by sprinter Ray Norton, who Monday night matched the world record of :20.6 for the 200-meter around one turn, and Mrs. Earlene Brown, powerful Los Angeles housewife, who now owns the discus and shotput titles. Norton Saturday won the 100-meter dash.

One of the finest discus performances on any field was turned in by Olympic champion Al Oerter, whose meet record - shattering toss of 190-84 has been surpassed by only three other men.

Oerter, on all six of his tosses, broke the former Pan-Am record of 174-24 set by United States' Fortune Gordien, the man who holds the listed world record of 194-6.

The U. S. basketball team scored a record-breaking 114-46 victory over Cuba Monday night.

In boxing, the United States won three bouts, but had 132-pound Harry Campbell eliminated by Argentina's Abel Laudonia and 147-pounder Dean Harrison stopped by Venezuela's Enrique Tovar. Argentina won four of five bouts.

Nation's Colleges Open Grid Drills

Expect Army, LSU Innovations
To be Copied by Competitors

By The Associated Press
The process of picking the New Year's day bowl contestants, national champion, All-Americans and the top professional football draft prospects began today as colleges throughout the nation opened fall football practice.

All the candidates were on hand to answer the official Sept. 1 call as set down by the National Collegiate Athletic association. With the notable exception of the Ivy league, all had at least 20 days of spring practice.

This was seen as vitally important by coaches who promise to make the 1959 college season one that will have a host of changes brought on primarily by the success of the 1957 national champion Louisiana State and Army, the Lambert trophy winner.

3-Platoon System
LSU's contribution is the 3-platoon system that features its 2-way (White), offensive (Go) and defensive (Chinese Bandits) system. Wherever manpower permits this is being used by other schools.

Army's lonesome end is being re-enacted as part of the offensive shift to wide-open football that also is bringing back the double-wing attack with its variations.

Many of the 1958 stars, including All-Americans Bill Cannon of LSU, Jim Houston of Ohio State and Zeke Smith of Auburn will be out for the first day of practice.

Several new coaches also step into the limelight as the season is due to begin in three weeks for most of the Southern and Southwestern schools.

The independent Big Three of Army, Navy and Notre Dame all have new coaches. Dale Hall replaces "Red" Blaik, who resigned at West Point last January, and Wayne Harden is the new coach at Navy, taking over for Eddie Erdelatz, who quit in April.

Man on Spot
Joe Kuharich is the man on the spot, as he takes over a Notre Dame team decimated by graduation losses, and soundly shaken by the controversy that followed Terry Brennan's firing last December.

"Bump" Elliot replaces Bennie Oosterbaan at Michigan, John Briders is at Baylor in place of Sam Boyd, Tom Nugent takes over at Maryland for Tommy Mont, Everett "Sonny" Grandelius replaces Dallas Ward at Colorado and John McLaughery is at Brown, succeeding Alva Kelley.

Jim Hickey guides North Carolina, after being named to the late Jim Tatum's job when a virus infection suddenly claimed Tatum's life in July.

Army, led by halfback Bob Anderson, is favored to give LSU the best battle as the nation's top team, with Ohio State, Auburn and Oklahoma close behind.

Leaping for a pass in Monday afternoon's opening Appleton High school football workout is junior back Bill Hopkins. Other players await their turns in the background.

Lindberg Posts Four 'Under-80' Rounds

John Lindberg posted four rounds of sub-80 golf over the weekend at Appleton Butte des Morts, with the showpiece a 1-over-par 71. His other efforts included a 72, 75 and 79.

Bob Martin matched Lindberg's fancy 71, while four other golfers were in the 70s three times. They included: Dan Steinberg, Jr. (77, 77, 79); Mike Cochran (73, 75, 77); and Jeff Martin (79, 79 and 78).

Sid Jacobson turned in a 75, his all-time low, and a 77. Men with two under-80 totals were: John Hayes, 73, 75; Jim McDonald 74, 77; Leo Francis, 73, 76; Don Jabas, 74, 75; and Harvey Lhost, 75, 78.

Bob Ferrel stroked a 76, Irv Ferrel and Don Strutz 78s and Al Rudolf and Donn Skoog 78s.

Herb Stinski recorded a 1-over 73 at Neenah Ridgeway. Other Ridgeway lows included: Chet Bland, 74; and Dick Spangenberg, a pair of 76s.

Heading the list at Menasha North Shore was a 72 by Henry Tollette. Totalling 75s were Bill McGuire, John Dutcher and Tom Zeuthen. Wayne Williams shot a 76, Ralph McGowan a 77 and Lyl Williams a 78.

Bob Duszak of Appleton rang up an eagle 3 on the 460-yard, par 5 No. 7 hole at Appleton Muni Sunday.

Heading weekend scoring at Riverview was Tom Dupont, a guest, with a 73. Leading member shot-makers were Bob Barlament, 75; Russ Bauman, 78; and Bill McGraw, 79.

Distemper Among Worst Threats to Dogs; Death Rate Hits 50 Per Cent

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

One of the most serious threats to dogs' health is distemper. The disease also affects other animals closely related to dogs—wolf, fox, racoon, martins, skunks and ferret.

The disease is caused by a tiny virus, similar to that causing influenza and polio in human beings. It is a highly contagious disease, spread by birds, flies, other insects, infected dogs, or even an owner who has walked in an area where an infected animal has been. There is some evidence that the wind carries the virus for considerable distance.

Seriousness of the disease can be judged from evidence indicating about 50 per cent of infected animals die. Even if the animal will be about 105 to 107. (A dog's normal temperature is 101 to 102 degrees.)

This first stage lasts a day or two, then the dog shows signs of recovery. It is not uncommon for the pet's owner to miss the first stage signs.

During the second stage, the dog's temperature drops or stays slightly above normal, the appetite will pick up slightly, but the dog continues to be listless. The discharge from the eyes and nose is heavier and it is at this point that the dog becomes vulnerable to other germs and diseases.

Central Nerves System

The stomach and intestinal tract often is the primary spot for infections. Bronchitis or pneumonia or some other form of respiratory condition is common.

Often the central nervous system is affected, with the system—the brain and spinal cord—involved. The pet may develop fits or an involuntary twitching called St. Vitus dance or chorea. The condition persists and is almost constant. Often a dog with a frothing distemper fit is thought to have rabies. There is no frothing at the mouth with rabies.

Vaccination Is Vital to the Health of your cat or dog. Distemper, rabies and other deadly disease can be prevented with an inoculation early in the pup's or kitten's life. Here, Dr. Jack Wilson injects serum into his own collie, Bonnie, aged 7 months, as his daughter, Larri Sue, 5, watches—and flinches—at his veterinary hospital, Winchester road, Neenah.

which may occur includes poor vision, improper development of teeth, less growth than normal and continual poor health because distemper lowered the animal's resistance to all diseases.

Vaccines Available

There is available vaccine

12 weeks will not be benefited by the permanent vaccine, although the temporary will protect them.

The vaccine stimulates the dog's body to produce distemper antibodies, although the body function is a highly complex one. The vaccination is safe for all animals, although in an unhealthy dog or a puppy under 12 weeks, the dog's body will not produce antibodies, so the vaccine is useless.

Need Good Care

After vaccination, dogs should get a little care to make sure their bodies produce antibodies. A well-balanced diet is essential and he should be in warm and dry living quarters. Avoid violent exercise or exposure during the time the vaccine works.

When you select a puppy, make sure it's one which is lively, eager to play and has a good appetite.

survives, there may be life-long damage to his health. It is generally accepted that animals over two years old will not contract distemper, but there are exceptions. There have been a relatively large number of cases reported in older dogs.

A precise diagnosis of distemper requires a veterinarian's experience and laboratory tests. Symptoms appear differently in different dogs, requiring the veterinarian to make blood counts and bacteriological studies.

Distemper can be confused

Not Up to Standard

In the first phase of distemper, a dog appears just not feeling up to standard. His appetite will drop, he'll show diarrhea and signs of intestinal upset, his eyes and nose will discharge a watery fluid and his temperature

Planning of Carrier Off Bridge Resumes

District Engineer Advises Route Near E. Candee Line

An east-west road linking the south end of the new $1,000,000 College avenue bridge and Highway 55 south of Kaukauna should be planned somewhere near the line of E. Candee street extended.

That's the opinion District Highway Engineer L. W. Empey gave the city council's street committee, the council's planning commission and the county board's highway committee Monday.

The road, Empey advised should have a 90-foot-wide right-of-way, enough for two 24-foot-wide traffic lanes on each side of a 16-foot-wide me-staleated when former Mayor Roemer and Ald. Kenneth Priebe, particularly, objected to making E. Candee the linking route.

Faint Hope for Timely Opening

There is a faint hope the new $1,000,000 College avenue bridge will open on schedule in December.

District Highway Engineer L. W. Empey said Monday he is not willing yet to say the date cannot be met, but he noted it may take some extraordinary measures, such as pouring concrete under artificial heat.

Staleated Earlier City and county officials wrestled the problem about two years ago, but became streets which intersect the south bridge approach are S. Walter avenue (which eventually becomes E. Newberry street and County Trunk Z as it extends toward Kimberly) and E. John street.

Priebe Monday said the city widened E. John to 40 feet of concrete two years ago in anticipation that the east-west route would extend from it at a point somewhere considerably south of the E. Candee line.

Empey Monday questioned the wisdom of going much farther south than Candee.

There are three possibilities for a major carrier off the bridge's south end, he explained, the S. Walter-E. Newberry - County Trunk Z route, E. Calumet street - County Trunk KK and an intermediate line near E. Candee.

Desired Routes

The latest traffic counts show some 3,785 vehicles use the S. Walter route daily and only 1,020 the E. Calumet route, Empey said.

This would indicate, he said, that the desired route of travel for the greatest numbers is on or near S. Walter-E. Newberry-County Trunk Z. Nothing positively can be known because there are no origin - destination surveys available.

An intermediate route near E. Candee street, Empey said, could be expected to generate some traffic of itself and take some traffic off the S. Walter route. The relief of S. Walter would be an attractive proposition, he said, as populations in the Fox villages and Kaukauna increase.

How many motorists now using S. Walter would shift to such an intermediate route is hard to gauge, Empey said. Time of trip is the big factor. Studies show motorists will pick the most congested route if it still cuts some minutes from their journey, Empey said.

Residential Restriction Empey agreed with Director of Public Works Duszynski that any intermediate route would be restricted to residential district since business places tend to choke traffic.

In order to set aside the needed right-of-way, Appleton, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna would have to agree on the route and place it on their official street maps. Once on the official map, sub-dividers would be required to make their plats correspond and the land for the road would be saved.

Lands not obtained through platting would have to be purchased by the county's highway committee and this would mean the county board would have to designate the route as a county trunk.

Plat Brings Pressure County trunks must connect state highways or a state highway and another county trunk. The proposed intermediate route would fit requirements because the bridge itself is a county trunk and its eastern terminus would be Highway 55. County Commissioner Clarence Brownson said.

Street Chairman Roy Point-

Dr. Cunningham New President of Cancer Society

Dr. Paul Cunningham has been elected president of the Outagamie county unit of the American Cancer society.

Other new officers are Miss Inez Davis, vice president; Mrs. Don Morrissey, chairman of the board; Dr. Cunningham, Mrs. David Gallagher, chairman of volunteers; Al H. Stoegbauer, re-elected treasurer; and Dr. George Nichols, Dr. Lewis Christenson and Mrs. Gallagher, new board members.

Delegates named to the state meeting in Milwaukee in November are Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Mrs. Morrissey and Mrs. Gallagher; and alternates, Robert Spooner, Mrs. Philip Joranson and Dr. Richard Clark.

Dr. Cunningham serves as local representative to the national cancer society; is a member of the board of directors of the Wisconsin division of the American Cancer society and of the state executive board. One of his interests in work of the society has been establishing a cytology screening center at Appleton Memorial hospital, which has been in operation since the first of the year.

Expectant Fathers Invited to VNA Class

Expectant fathers are invited to the 7:30 Wednesday class for expectant mothers at the Visiting Nurse association house, 310 N. Durkee street.

Miss Inez Davis, nurse director, will lecture on the baby's bath, gearing discussion especially toward the father.

The lecture is part of a series of eight offered by the VNA.

Martha Sorensen Addresses Teachers

Martha Sorensen, director of Appleton elementary education, addressed the orientation meeting of Kiel and New Holstein public school teachers at Kiel Monday morning.

Miss Sorensen spoke on "Individual Differences." About 75 high school and grade school teachers attended. Miss Sorensen was introduced by S. W. Zielanis, Kiel superintendent of schools.

er said his committee will try to pinpoint the route. When that's done, the committee will ask for a meeting with Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna to start a joint amendment to official street maps.

The route problem is pressing because it is holding up approval of the Schaefer plat, part of which includes a Lutheran church planned for construction shortly.

It was the lack of a carrier through the Schaefer plat which caused Ald. Thomas K. Schneider to call for solution to the bridge carrier problem.

No Summer Lull, Business Booms

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It's September and the summer lull traditional in our economy should now be ending. But the trouble—if you want to call it trouble—is that during 1959 we didn't have a summer lull.

We didn't have it despite the steel strike. We didn't have it despite the immense pre-strike buildup in businessmen's inventories of steel which should have resulted in a perceptible let-down once the strike was called. We didn't have it despite the widespread expectation that construction of houses couldn't continue at the sensational pace of earlier this year. We didn't have it despite the federal reserve system's stiff curbs on credit and rising interest rates. We didn't have it despite vacations and normal plant shut-downs.

The American economy has, in short, been stronger than most experts thought it would be. That means that when steel mills go back into roaring production, the automakers move into high gear on the 1960 cars and the customary fall business expansion takes place, we'll be piloting a new, powerful upswing on top of an already powerful advance.

We are in a boom. When you pull the evidence together and weigh the key clues, the dimensions of this advance shine through. These things have been happening:

Output Mounts
Output in most industries outside of steel has continued to mount, in many instances to never before touched peaks. Overall, industrial production was down in July, and when the official figures for August are released a few weeks from now, total industrial production will be shown sharply down this past month. But the total statistics are distortions now; they reflect the abnormalities of strikes, not business setbacks. When steel re-enters the statistics, industrial production will take off again for new highs.

Retail sales have been climbing persistently and department store sales are running 9 per cent ahead of a year ago. Summer clearances of furniture and clothes, advance buying for fall have had a significant impact on sales.

While the steel strike halted an 8-month rise in wages and salaries in July, total personal incomes of Americans set another record. Pay increases in construction, trade, state and local government helped to offset the effects of the steel strike. Dividends and interest payments to individuals have continued to rise.

Building of houses was supposed to slow down substantially this summer—but it's a mighty playmate slowdown. In July, we still were building houses at an annual rate of 1,350,000—within whispering distance of 1950's all-time top of 1,400,000.

Businessmen also were supposed to start slashing loans this summer as they used up their steel inventories. Instead, bank loans to businessmen are jumping to peaks—and the great period for bank loan expansion is just about to begin.

And now comes the period for big auto production, back-to-school and back-from-vacation buying by families the land over. Now comes a quickening in spending by industry for new plants and modern equipment.

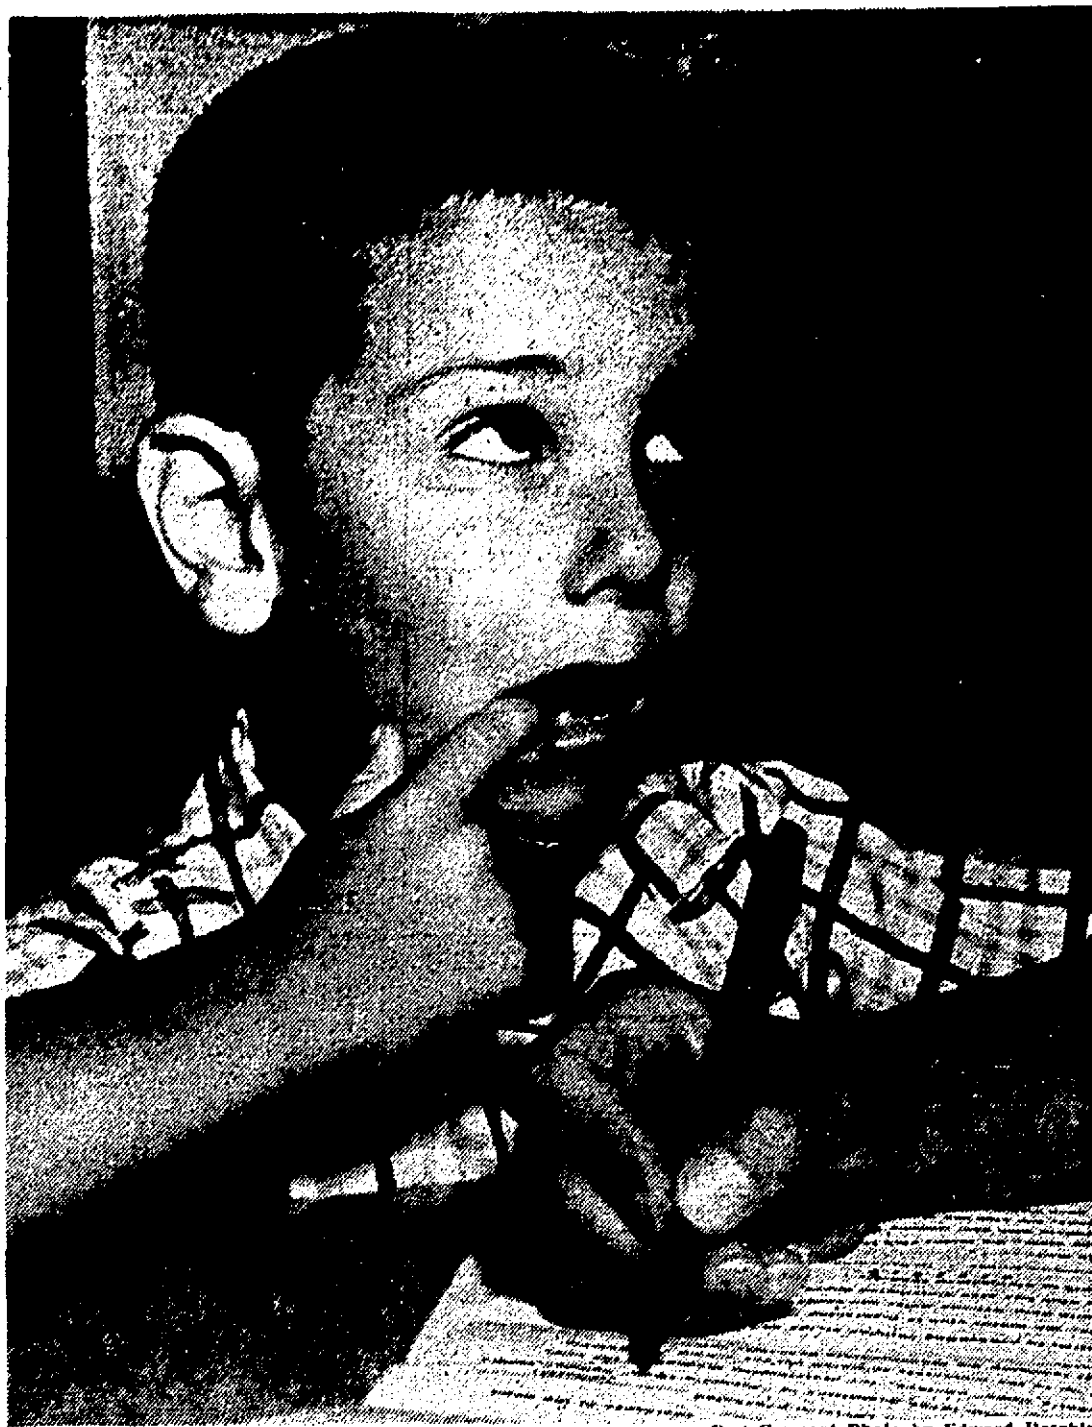

We had no summer lull. We are in a business boom. (Copyright, 1959)

Two Men Take Norbertine Vows

DePere — Frater Augustine Roland Vanden Heuvel, O. Praem., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vanden Heuvel, 704 Madison street, Little Chute, made his simple profession of vows in the Norbertine Order Friday. The vows were made at ceremonies in the new St. Norbert abbey here before Abbot S. M. Killen, Frater Augustine will continue his studies for the priesthood at St. Norbert abbey.

Also professed at the same time was Frater Brian John Prunty, O. Praem., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Prunty, Bear Creek.

The order conducts St. Norbert college, West De Pere and high schools in West De Pere, Green Bay, Philadelphia and Claymont, Del. It also does parish work in Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Montana.

There's No Doubt About It—when school starts, summer ends. And 5-year-old Steve Streck knows it, too, as he watches his teacher write down his name at his first day of kindergarten at Foster school. The unhappy young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Streck, 1926 S. Bouten street. Schools open today for all children in Appleton.

3 Confess Vandalism

Mailboxes Damaged During Beer Drinking Spree, Boys Admit

Iola — Douglas Wilhelm, 18, route 1, Iola, was released to the custody of his parents but charges arising from a spree in which 100 mailboxes were tampered with will remain open.

Wilhelm and two minor youths confessed to the vandalism to the boxes in northwestern Waupaca and northeastern Portage counties.

Postal authorities waived jurisdiction in favor of County Judge Wendell McHenry, who freed the youths to their parents but kept the charge open.

According to a statement made to Sheriff Ray Abrahamson, the three boys said the spree in which mailboxes were knocked down, moved or carried away and destroyed a week ago was the result of a beer drinking party.

The investigation and arrests were made by Waupaca county traffic patrolmen Louis Adams and William Mork and Undersheriff, Jack Algers.

These Days

Parents Should Decide Whether Children May Pray in Classrooms

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — It now has been decided in the Herricks, Long Island, school case that a prayer to God, in the classroom, is neither illegal nor sinful. It is said some parents are so adamant they will take the case to the supreme court hoping it will declare prayer illegal if said in a school.

The issue is very simple. The New York state regents, in charge of education, decided in 1951 a prayer which is utterly non-sectarian but is sectarian so far as atheists and agnostics are concerned. The prayer reads:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon thee, and we beg thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Some parents regard this simple prayer a violation of the constitution which nowhere forbids prayer or the use of prayer in public schools.

Must Inform Parents

The case came before the state supreme court, presided over by Judge Bernard S. Meyer, who decided that children may say this prayer, provided their parents are informed the child is praying. Parents who forbid their children to pray may request the child step aside and not engage in such activities. The judge further requires that school authorities may not comment on the conduct of children forbidden to pray.

Judge Meyer's reasoning is sound throughout. There is no constitutional provision against prayer and there is no evidence it was intended that the first amendment should be used to oppose devotional exercises in schools.

It is true that the parent is the trustee for the child, but it is not true that a few parents can impose their will on the majority of parents. Those parents may have their children removed from devotional exercises.

Confuses Children

Prayer now is being reintroduced and it is very beneficial to children. It gives them a moment to think of something besides themselves and their needs and their wants. It might even help them to respect their parents.

The judge's opinion, which is quite long, emphasized the point that there must be no comment about children who are kept away from prayer. It is difficult to see how that can be done. The children will comment.

Is it better for the child to be mixed up, to suffer confusion, or for him to say the simple prayer of grace and respect?

According to Judge Meyer's decision, that is up to the parents and that is where it should rest.

Madison Chief Asks Attack on City Problems

Sees Urban Growth Laws as Liberal Frontier for Party

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — An attack upon growing urban problems as a kind of political action frontier for liberalism was urged upon leaders of the Democratic party of Wisconsin during the weekend.

The call came from Mayor Ivan Nestingen of Madison and David Carley, one of the key officials of the state Democratic administration, in addresses to a state government seminar held here by the state majority party organization.

Both credited the Nelson administration with significant advances toward the solution of urban growth and development problems during the recent legislature, pointing to new laws governing municipal annexation and the incorporation of cities and villages.

Urban government problems may serve as a kind of new "liberal frontier," suggested Carley, expected soon to be named director of the new state department of economic resources development by Gov. Nelson.

Carley said the state should move more positively to help urbanized Wisconsin communities, but with a gesture toward the state's home rule traditions, he emphasized also that such action should be "not intervention but assistance."

Nesting is the state's chief critic of the present organization of county government and repeated his demand for alternatives to the county board structure that would fit the needs of the urbanized counties, of which he said there are at least 17.

He pointed to the recent legislation authorizing creation of an executive officer for metropolitan Milwaukee county as a signpost in the direction of county reform.

The over-lapping of municipal services in some of the urban districts of the state and their inefficiencies will become an intolerable burden to the property taxpayer, he predicted.

Soon There May be Few Military Secrets

When President Eisenhower offered his famous "open skies" inspection program to the world there were many who thought he was risking too much. However, it now appears that we are going to have open skies inspection whether we want it or not.

The Project Tepee of Dr. William John Thaler promises to monitor missile firings, satellite launchings, atomic tests and many other happenings of military significance around the world. In addition, scientists now are planning to put eyes in satellites so that they may serve as spies around the world from their positions high in the skies. Some months ago a Russian scientist, G. V. Petrovich, wrote in a Soviet journal that the communists are trying to develop satellites that will keep the entire world under surveillance.

Now the Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA) of the Defense department is engaged in the development of a reconnaissance satellite system to go into operation in the near future. American scientists engaged in this work believe it will not be long before satellites traveling a north-south orbit around the world will provide a daily view of every foot of space on this earth. Furthermore they say a satellite hovering above the equator will be focused on 38 per cent of the world's surface at all times.

It is believed that equipment will be available soon that will permit such satellites to photograph pictures of the Earth on which it will be possible to identify objects such as communication lines, railroads, highways, canals, urban centers, industrial areas, airfields, naval facilities, seaport areas and other constructions which might be of interest to the military. It is predicted that very soon pictures taken from such satellites will provide information on objects as small as 60 feet in length and within a very short time it will be possible to identify objects as small as eight feet in length. It is pointed out that the pictures can be coded into radio signals and transmitted to Earth where they can be changed back into photographs. Furthermore it may be possible soon to receive films sealed in capsules and parachuted back to earth from a satellite in outer space.

Sometime in the future it is believed that satellites will be geared with infrared and then they may become "flying burglar alarms" capable of sounding a warning the moment an enemy missile comes within their range.

The satellites also may be useful in helping our submarines, ships and planes to get about the world better. Once the business of tracking the satellites accurately has been perfected it will be possible to have satellites acting as navigational guides. Ships, planes and submarines using such guides will be able to determine their positions at any time, day or night.

What will be the effect on the policies of Russia and the United States when each has a clear knowledge of what the other is doing militarily through this satellite inspection system? Since we sought the inspection voluntarily it may be assumed that we place some value on it. However, this involuntary inspection which promises to be accurate beyond question will supply all the information we sought through exchange inspections and a great deal more.

We are bringing Premier Khrushchev to America with the idea of impressing him with our military might. Within a few years Khrushchev, or whoever succeeds him in Russia, will have such information compiled through satellite inspection and there will be no possibility of one nation bluffing another. It looks like this information would be an incentive to maintaining the peace. It is to be hoped that it will work out that way.

Make the Home Safe for Children

Nearly 16 million children were killed or injured last year in accidents. This list includes only injuries serious enough to send a child to a doctor or to keep him out of school one or more days. It also includes 15,000 fatal accidents.

The United States Health service is satisfied that one-third of the fatal accidents and more than half of the non-fatal accidents occurred while children were at home where they are supposed to be safe. Furthermore the report says that most of the accidents could have been prevented by the parents if they had taken just reasonable precautions for safety.

The rules suggested for parents to follow are old ones and have been given in many forms before. Nevertheless they might be mentioned briefly again.

First, of course, is to avoid leaving lye, bleaches, poisons, insect sprays or anything of that nature about where children can get at them. About 600,000 children each year, most of them under two years of age, are poisoned by swallowing such items. Drain and rinse old medicine bottles before throwing them away. Never leave sleeping pills or other drugs about where children can get at them. If children are given medicine that is candy-coated or flavored be sure to tell them it is medicine and not deceive them into thinking it is candy, for such misinformation may lead them to a fatal act. Never leave a child sleeping alone in a house even for a few minutes. Be sure window screens are on tightly, that clotheslines are strung high and that there are no loops on venetian blinds in which a child could become entangled.

If there are any guns in the house be sure they are unloaded and kept out of the children's reach. Ammunition should be locked into a container or closet.

Never leave a child alone with a lighted stove, candle or lamp.

Keep knives, icepicks and all sharp instruments out of the reach of children. Store plastic bags out of reach or destroy them.

When cooking, keep the handles of pans turned away from the front of the stove and out of reach of children. Also be sure they cannot pull a pan of hot soup or beverage down on themselves by tugging at a tablecloth. Finally, keep matches out of reach of smaller children and teach the older children how to use them and the danger of being careless with them.

It is not an accident that some families have accidents and others do not. Parents that have such simple rules as listed here in mind and keep an eye out for dangers in the home have a better chance of safety and happiness than those who ignore even such elementary precautions.

Late, Lazy Summer

This is the time of year when Nature seems to have shown her best and is content to drowse in the noonday sun. The languid notes of the PeeWee repeating its syrupy phrases over and over are typical of the heat and humidity, the slow moving river and deliberate waves, the moldering, fruitly smell of apples raked into a pile, and the settling heat among the tall rows of corn. There is something satiated and overblown about late summer, an atmosphere of rest and waiting, ripeness and completion.

But there are signs too of a season that is ending even as it reaches its height. The sun sets earlier among the growing hum of evening insects. In the early morning hours there is a faint whisper of chill before the fog lifts from the web spread grass. And the flash of goldenrod, the deep orange of nasturtiums and the copper and brass of zinnias and marigolds give a hint of the brilliance that is to come.

Teamsters Point to Graft and Corruption in Other Fields

From The Wisconsin Teamster

Strangely silent are most daily papers concerning the staggering figures of corruption and graft as they affect business in this country. And so, it was appropriate last week that the Machinists' official journal ran a quiz in which it asked these questions:

1. The plunder which the white collar criminal exacts from society is enormous. Last year as much as $..... probably changed hands in kickbacks, payoffs and bribes. (See page 162, Life Magazine, Oct. 14, 1957)

2. The committee has uncovered the shocking fact that union funds in excess of $..... were either stolen, embezzled or misused by union officials over a period of 15 years. (See page 1, Interim Report of the U S Senate's McClellan Committee, March 24, 1958)

3. Employers throughout the United States have stolen, misused or failed to turn over the U. S. government more than $..... in taxes withheld from the pay envelopes of their employees. (See pages 3316 to 3323, Congressional Record for March 10, 1959)

What guesses would you make to fill these blanks? The correct answers to the quiz are:

1. $5,000,000,000 is the amount which Life estimated changes hands in business kickbacks, payoffs and bribes every year.

2. $10,000,000 is the amount the McClellan Committee estimated as having been stolen, misused or embezzled by union officials during the last 15 years.

3. $250,000,000 is the amount of income tax deductions which employers took from employees wages but failed to turn in to the federal government last year.

The Machinist Journal says these figures provide us with some perspective on the ethical problems confronting the people of the United States.

These figures do not give the same perspective that one might get from the daily newspapers.

They do not, for example, support the hysteria for labor legislation this year at all costs, a hysteria carefully spread around Washington by employers, a hysteria fanned by editorial writers and columnists for most of the commercial press, a hysteria echoed by many politicians.

Television Claims Make Life Seem Like Illusion

From The Yankers Record

There's a wry kind of humor behind some of those that all too frequently fracture television programs and make us feel that nothing we do is right.

If we believe what we are told on TV, we are neglecting dental safeguards and using the wrong kind of soap. We're not really clean shaven, and we are subtly urged by insinuation to stick to the shadows because the white shirt we wear is not really white because it was not laundered in the right detergent and won't stand the sunlight test.

But worst of all is the discovery that the filter on the end of a cigaret is the ultimate for measuring intelligence quotient, and failing to recognize its extraordinary merits, all but a few of us are frankly told that we're just not Thinking Men. Think — oops, beg pardon — wrestle with that one.

No Sign of Increase In Corporation Taxes

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Although it is evident that public opinion in the state has been prepared for a additional tax levies, it is not so apparent that there is a public awareness of the prospect of individual tax increases, as distinguished from those on corporations.

Wyngaard

One of the meaningful aspects of current Wisconsin politics is the fact that during a period of serious financial trouble in state and local government, there is no sign of any design to increase corporation tax burdens.

Indeed, there may soon be a demand for an actual program of corporation tax relief.

Some of the preliminary findings of the governor's tax impact committee, according to reliable reports around Madison, may give a good deal of comfort to those business spokesmen who have complained so long about the Wisconsin business tax climate.

As the story is being told, the comparative figures are not encouraging. If they don't provide the opportunity for some measure of business tax equalization, as between Wisconsin and competitive states, they will almost certainly require any politician with a regard for the political verities to avoid further impositions upon business enterprise as such.

TAX PROBLEMS

The idea of business taxation is not always well understood by the individual voter, which has been one of the difficulties in such discussions as have been had on the topic intermittently during the last decade or more.

The assumption is that the matter relates to the corporation income tax.

That is involved, but it is only part of the problem. Standing alone the corporation income tax appears to be a minor factor, especially when measured against the gigantic tax bite of the national government.

But when a business executive measures his competitive status with that of another in a state which does not have an income tax, the difference is considerable. Nor is the income tax, the most troublesome. Many businesses and especially those called small businesses are more worried about the personal property tax than about the corporate income tax. The personal property tax may or may not be passed on to the ultimate consumer. It depends upon geography, the line involved and other factors.

Businesses are subject to other impositions of government of the kind that the public appreciates only dimly. The other day employers were notified, for example, of an appreciable rise in their workmen's compensation insurance rates because the last legislature boosted workmen's compensation benefit schedule in an action that was regarded as so routine that not one voter out of 20, in all likelihood, noticed it.

It got comparatively little notice at the time, but Gov. Nelson in his only explicit call for tax reform thus far has categorically demanded the repeal of the personal property tax. The fact tells its own story, remembering the financial climate of the governor's regime.

PERSONAL TAXES

It is not always remembered, moreover, that the business executive also pays taxes as an individual. In that regard he isn't entitled to any favors over the professional man, the farmer, or the workman, surely.

But when that manufacturing business owner or manager has a choice of location it may very well bear a relation to the state's industrial development. This correspondent has heard Wisconsin big corporation executives remark that it is sometimes difficult to persuade them men to return to Wisconsin assignments because this state has a personal income tax running up to 10 per cent or more and the states of their current residence do not.

Such factors become more persuasive when they are combined with others that are significant in business competition — such as distance from primary markets, climate, transportation and many others. The city of LaCrosse, for example, is now profoundly worried about industrial emigration, related to problems of geography and transportation.

Stupid, Harmful Not to Safeguard Against Polio

From The Washington Evening Star

With the number of paralytic cases already almost double the total recorded for the same period in 1958, it now begins to look as though this will be the worst poliomyelitis year in the United States since the introduction of the Salk vaccine in 1955. In their own way, as the public health service has indicated, the statistics serve as a grim commentary on the folly of many millions of Americans who have failed to arm themselves and their children with the vaccine's protection.

This failure amounts to a stupid and tragic form of negligence. The multiple-shot Salk treatment, of course, does not absolutely guarantee to prevent the disease in everybody who has sense enough to be inoculated. But it definitely does reduce, by between 75 and 90 per cent, the probability of contracting paralytic polio. That is why Americans who fail to avail themselves of the safeguard may rightly be described as their own and their children's worst enemies.

Businessmen Spent Money Selling Kalamazoo Mall Idea

BY JIM BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

Kalamazoo, Mich. — Participation by the business community, including the kind with dollar bills, and detailed public explanations of the problem and its possible cures put over this city's shoppers mall with a minimum of political strife.

The initials DKA are sprinkled through any story of how the mall came into being. DKA, for Downtown Kalamazoo association, was formed in the spring of 1958 to push the mall idea and public acceptance.

But at the same time, the DKA was not pointing to city hall as the place from which all the money was to come. Property owners with frontage on the two business blocks sighted realization that something drastic must be done to preserve downtowns.

Reassessment Jolt

And on the practical side, merchants were worried that conditions would continue to get worse and lead to construction of suburban shopping centers. A real jolt came in a city reassessment in 1956 which recorded a $1,000,000 drop in downtown valuation. "Buildings themselves were beginning to look down-in-the-mouth. Nothing had been done in the way of remodeling for years.

"Retail sales were not increasing. Some convenience-type stores were moving out to neighborhood shopping districts. Then came the drop in valuation downtown," Ripatte said.

In the spring of 1958, Gruen presented his plan, called "Kalamazoo 1980." It envisions the downtown area, eight blocks on a side, circled by peripheral streets and with off-street parking lots on its edges. The Burdick Mall is an example of the vehicle-less streets which would be inside the new conception of downtown.

20-Year Project

Kalamazoo now has about 6,100 off-street parking spaces near the downtown area. 800 in municipal lots. A $650,000 revenue bond issue is planned to provide 250 more spaces. If the "Kalamazoo 1980" plan 352 Chute street, that Mrs. Crosby was showing the weapon to others in the tavern.

When policemen asked Mrs. Crosby where the pistol was, she said she threw it into a parked car, but would not show them which car.

Gun in Shorts
They took her to the police station, where she refused to tell anything about the weapon.

Porath was about to call a police matron to search her when she reached into her shorts and pulled out the weapon.

Mrs. Crosby pointed the weapon at her own shoulder, with her finger on the trigger. Porath and the two patrolmen pleaded with her to drop the gun for about five minutes, police said.

She cocked the revolver, lifting it about four inches above her shoulder. Porath and Kolasinski lunged at her, seizing the weapon. The revolver discharged in the scuffle.

Mrs. Crosby was taken to the county jail by Capt. Cyril Walbrun, acting chief, Kolasinski, and a police matron.

Mrs. Crosby's parents were notified. Mrs. Crosby and her two children, 1 and 2, live with them. She was married at 15. Her husband is believed to be working at Marion, police said.

Mrs. Crosby told police she was carrying the weapon because men had been following her.

The Gruen plan was accepted in principle by the city commission in April, 1958. After a public hearing, it unanimously approved the Burdick Mall idea this spring. Opposition at the hearing amounted to "a few citizens coming in to object to parking being taken away in front of stores," Clarence Elliott, city manager, reports.

The downtown plan has been presented as a 20-year objective and not as a lump-sum improvement project.

Regular Program

"We have explained that it would be scheduled in regular improvements programs, like any other improvement for the central business district. It will be judged on the basis of need over 20 years, as storm sewer in annexed areas or anything else. The important thing is to know where you are going," Ripatte said.

DKA members feel Burdick Mall already has racked up the most important evidence, willingness of investors to use money because of faith in the continued business growth of downtown. Work is underway on a $600,000 store and more than a dozen remodeling projects are scheduled for completion this summer.

Because the house originates such bills, Byrd has felt his hands are tied. He could offer the proposal as an amendment to a house-passed bill but there is almost no chance the house would accept it.

Remove Ceiling

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson apparently is hopeful congress eventually will agree to take the interest ceiling off all government bonds. Savings bonds pay 3 1/2 per cent. Singer-Actor Pat Boone, Center, lends a hand to firemen during a blaze at 20th Century-Fox studio in Hollywood Monday. The fire, on the studio's back lot, destroyed 14 frame buildings used as sets. Damage was estimated at $100,000. Nine fire companies controlled the blaze in 30 minutes. Boone is making a picture at the studio.

Thousands Join in Prayers for Peace

Kaukauna — Fourth degree Knights of Columbus, with glistening swords, and wearing silk hats and tuxedos, served as a guard of honor as the blessed sacrament was carried to the altar for the Holy Hour of prayer for world peace held here Monday night.

Village Board Hopes to Fill Two Vacancies

Street Commissioner, Board Member Posts At Combined Locks

Combined Locks — Village officials will attempt to fill two office vacancies at 7 p.m. today, one a problem which has faced the board at several sessions.

The vacancy created by Edward Lindberg's resignation has been the center of controversy as present board members have deadlocked at 3-all teach time a vote is taken on the two candidates, Marvin Schumacher and Robert Lacey.

A flip of a coin was not satisfactory to the candidates. Lindberg has been invited back for this session by board members in the hope some solution can be reached.

The village attorney has checked all possible sources, and asked the opinion of the league of municipalities only to find the situation is without precedent.

Street Commissioner

The board will review applications for the position of street commissioner, a position left vacant by the unexpected death of Ray Jansen.

The village has advertised for applications and board members are expected to review applicants before making a selection. Applications are open to present members of the village crew together with persons from other areas.

Little Chute to Study Bids on Bridge Repairs

Little Chute — The village board will meet at 8 tonight, to open bids for the repairing of the drawbridge over the canal on the Fox river.

The village earlier requested the Outagamie county board for $3,000 to help pay part of the repair costs as the bridge was formerly part of the county trunk system. Last year the board gave the village $3,000 for repairing, but the village estimates it will cost over $12,000 for repairs and wants the county to pay half.

The fund request is being studied by the board's highway committee.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

le county deanery of Holy Name societies and the Knights of Columbus, the beautifully impressive ceremony attracted thousands of persons who solemnly joined in prayer.

Preceding the blessed sacrament across the brilliantly lighted Kaukauna High school athletic field were over 200 altar boys, robed in red or black cassocks and white lace surplices, followed by priests and monsignors.

Altar Decorated

A white altar with a blue background and decorated with green palm branches, pink and white flowers faced the west while the male vested choir of Hollandtown stood to the right on a raised platform. In front of the altar were seated the clergy, altar boys and knights taking part in the procession.

Particularly impressive were the rosary recitation at which time red flares were lit as each "Hail Mary" was concluded and yellow flares lit as the assembly recited the "Our Father" between each decade, and the candle lighting ceremony.

The entire assembly held lighted candles, the athletic field lights were turned out and the benediction of the blessed sacrament held as the concluding part of the Holy Hour.

Weather Ideal

The weather was ideal for the observance with a gentle breeze drifting the fumes from the flares away from the assembly and keeping it cool enough to permit wearing suit coats or light jackets or sweaters.

A crowd estimated in the thousands joined in praying and singing hymns to honor the "Prince of Peace." The athletic field bleachers, estimated to hold 2,800 people, were filled about one-half hour prior to the start of the service and others stood on the athletic field or found vantage points on ramps of the high school.

13 KVS Teachers To Participate in Area Conference

Kaukauna — Thirteen teachers of adult classes at the Kaukauna School of Vocational and Adult education will participate in homemaking conferences at the Menasha Vocational school Wednesday.

Highlighting the day-long activities will be talks by John Te Poorten, Charles Winegarner, Miss Monica Conney, Miss Margaret Peerman and Miss Gertrude Hoffman.

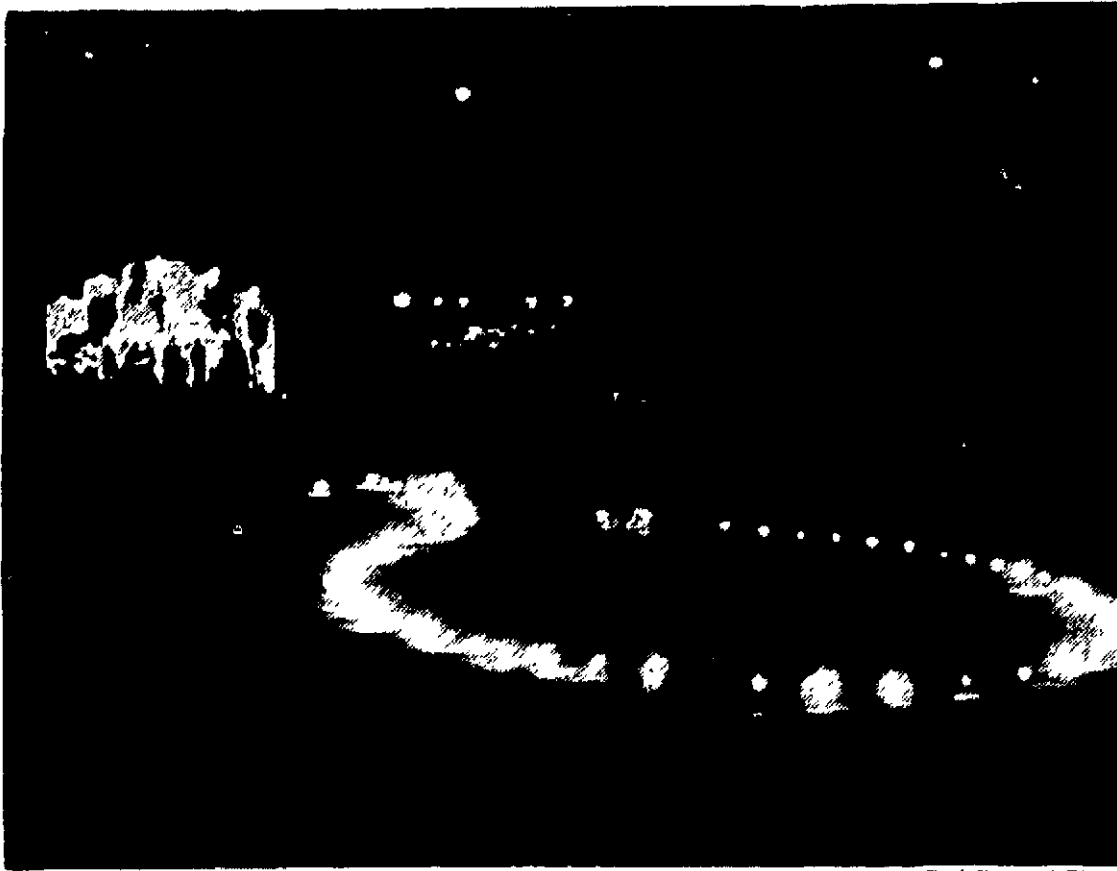

Kaukauna women attending will be Miss Eleanor DeMert, Mrs. William Blazski, Mrs. Leo Driessen, Mrs. Harold Kohn, Mrs. William Mittelstaedt, Mrs. John Mau, Mrs. Argo Simon, Mrs. John Verbeten and Mrs. James McFadden.

Teachers on the local staff from outside the city attending will be Mrs. Arthur Hoppe, Mrs. Alta Bethke, Mrs. Gus Youngwall and Roy Bruumruk.

Eastern Star Chapter Starts New Season

Kaukauna — The first meeting of the fall season will be held at 7:30 this evening by Odile chapter 184, Order of Eastern Star, at the Masonic temple.

This will be obligation night with Mrs. Merritt Black and Mrs. Encl Burdick to have charge of refreshments.

The Holy Hour of Prayer conducted by the Outagamie county deanery of Holy Name societies and the Knights of Columbus at the Kaukauna athletic field Monday was highlighted by a living rosary outlined by flares. Red flares were ignited at each "Hail Mary" and yellow flares at each "Our Father."

Plans Complete For St. John's School Opening

Five New Teachers, Including Principal Added to Faculty

Little Chute — Plans have been completed for the opening of St. John High school, Little Chute, according to Sister Mary Renata, newly appointed principal replacing Sister Annette.

The Rev. Martin Vosbeck is supervisor of the parochial school while religion instructors are the Rev. LeRoy Hogan, the Rev. James Seely and the Rev. Mark Schumacher.

New instructors this year besides the principal are Sister Mary Benedicte, Sister Marie Louise, Sister Martina and Sister May Siena.

Returning faculty members include Sister Canisia, Sister Marie Therese, Sister Mary Alan, Sister Mary Patrick, Sister Thomas, Sister Urban and Mrs. John Willey. William Fitzpatrick returns as coach and director of the physical education program.

Plans call for freshmen and sophomore students to report for classes Sept. 9 while juniors and seniors will start regular classes Sept. 10. Grade school students will report Sept. 9 with Sister Mary Venard to serve as grade school principal.

First Call for Cross Country Issued at KHS

Kaukauna — Boys planning to participate in cross country at Kaukauna High school this fall must pick up WIAA cards and have physicals taken this week if they hope to compete in the first meet, according to Harold Kohn, coach.

The opening meet is set for Sept. 19, a quadrangular with Kimberly, Neenah and New London and WIAA rules require a certain amount of practice before the season starts. Kohn plans to hold his initial practice Sept. 8.

Kohn issued a reminder to incoming freshmen the sport is open to them where they can gain a berth on either the jayvee or varsity squad, depending on ability. The sport has been growing in popularity at Kaukauna the past few years. Previously meets were run over the Fox Valley Golf club.

Marriage License

Chilton — A marriage license was issued to William by Roland E. Miller, county D. Engler, Jr., Chilton, and clerk.

Deadline Set to Register for FVGC Club, Class Competition

Kaukauna — Over 80 golfers have signed for the club and class championship matches for men to be played this weekend at Fox Valley Golf club, according to the tournament committee.

Registrations for competition will close Thursday evening and foursomes and tee off times will be posted late Thursday evening or Friday morning. Arrangements for foursomes and tee times will be set up by the committee. Club championship together with A and B flights will play 18 holes on Saturday and 18 Sunday while those in C and D flights will play nine holes each day. The winner will be determined on medal play.

Finals Sunday

Top scorers in all categories will be assigned tee off times for Sunday afternoon finals while the others will be eliminated from further competition. An effort is to be made to have golfers play with others in their own flight whenever possible although some adjustments may be necessary.

Persons with the lowest scores Saturday will be held for teeing off late Sunday afternoon to maintain interest in the outcome. Presentation of trophies will be made at an evening dinner to climax the affair. Members of the tournament committee are Ray Schwanke, James McFadden, Don Peeters, Monroe Schneider and Art Mongin.

KHS Study Changes Noted

Third Year Spanish, Math, Speech to be Offered This Year

Kaukauna — Three additions have been made to the curriculum at Kaukauna High school as a result of school board action during the summer months.

Courses to be made available to students for the first time include speech, third year Spanish and fourth year math. The courses were added in keeping with the trend in education of offering progressively better classes for students.

The speech class will be open to juniors and seniors as an elective with two sections, one each semester, being offered. Instructor will be Miss Barbara Little.

Third year Spanish will be taught by Mrs. Howard Sprenger. The school now offers two years of Latin and three years of Spanish to students interested in language arts.

In conjunction with the fourth year of math, to be taught by Miss Mildred Feller, the school will offer algebra on the freshmen level. Other math courses open to freshmen include general math and related math while sophomores may take geometry and juniors are eligible to take advanced algebra and trigonometry.

Firemen Answer Two Minor Calls Over Weekend

Kaukauna — Firemen answered two calls over the weekend, one for leaking gas and the second routine.

Gas from a refrigerator was leaking at the Dan Hennessy residence, 312 W. Seventh street, about 6 p.m. Saturday and firemen moved the refrigerator outside to avoid danger of the family being affected by the fumes.

About 1:30 p.m. Sunday firemen used a 24-foot extension ladder to remove a blindfold from a statue of a civil war soldier at the Lawe street park. Some youngsters had climbed the monument and placed a blindfold over the figure.

Democrats Face Test of Responsibility

Bond Interest, Public Works, Labor • Reform Key Issues

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — In a few days there will be several important tests which will tell the American people whether the Democratic party majority in congress elected last autumn has proved responsible or irresponsible.

First, a bill calling for more than $1 billion in public works projects which are not provided for in the president's budget, but which selfish interests in various congressional districts have promoted, will be up for decision as to whether President Eisenhower's veto shall be sustained or overridden.

Second, the labor-reform bill which the nation demands and which was passed overwhelmingly by the house of representatives has run into a deadlock in the joint conference committee of both houses. Now the senate must vote whether to follow or ignore the public sentiment that favors an end to racketeering and the "blackmail" picketing that injures innocent third parties.

Third, the house leadership of the Democratic party has bottled up a bill that calls for higher interest rates on government bonds. The issue has not been permitted to be voted on in clear-cut fashion by the Democratic leaders of the house. Failure to act could mean a crisis for the dollar and produce more inflation.

The best exposition of the case for the bill that would give the treasury power to go beyond the present limit of 4 1/2 per cent on bonds that mature after five years has been given by Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, who is chairman of the senate finance committee. He says:

"The distinguished speaker of the house of representa-

Three Weekend Accidents in Calumet County

Chilton — Three weekend accidents were reported to the Calumet county sheriff's office.

Cars driven by Ronald Coffey, 17, route 1, Greenleaf, and Edward R. Clish, Palatine, Ill., collided on Highway 57 a mile north of Forest Junction about 12:45 p.m., Sunday. Both cars were traveling north.

James R. Verhoven, 19, route 1, Brillion, collided with a boat trailer and car driven by Eugene R. Mrotek, 36, Brillion, about 1 1/2 miles south of Brillion on 114, at 3:10 p.m. Saturday. The accident occurred as Verhoven attempted to pass the Mrotek vehicle.

Cars driven by Joseph G. Rossmeyer, 16, route 2, Hilbert, and Howard F. Fochs, 30, route 2, Hilbert, collided at the intersection of town roads a mile north and a mile west of Hilbert, about 7:45 p.m. Saturday.

National Tea Sales Set Records; Chain Plans 108 New Stores

Chicago — H. V. McNamara, president of the National Tea company says the company's sales continued to break all previous records for the eighth four week accounting period.

Consolidated sales for the 4 week period ending Aug. 15, 1959, reached $63,334,558 for an increase of $4,682,853, which was a gain of 7.98 per cent over the same period of 1958.

The company has executed leases for another 108 stores to be opened during 1959 or planned for 1960, of which 81 will be new locations in the company's present territory, but in communities not previously served.

It would be calamitous if we tried to solve this problem by forcing the federal reserve system purchase of more government bonds. This would mean printing money. Unquestionably it would lead to disastrous inflation."

Unless the majority in the house of representatives heeds the advice of Senator Byrd, the Democratic party will have to take full responsibility for the serious financial consequences that may do so, a crisis of first magnitude.

ELECTRIC cooking is accurate!

Cooking temperatures can be measured as precisely as you measure recipe ingredients when you cook electrically. Whether you're cooking on surface units or in the oven, you just set the controls for the heat you want and you get the same even heat every time. This Picture Shows a behind-the-scenes preview of the Post-Crescent's Fall Fashion edition to be published Tuesday, Sept. 15. Three professional models from Milwaukee stand poised and ready for Post-Crescent Photographer Frank Waltman in front of Lawrence college union. They are three of the 11

Visitors Have Busy Day

11 Professional Models Pose For '59 Fall Fashion Edition

Photographing 11 professional models "on location" for the Post-Crescent's 1959 Fall Fashion edition Sept. 15 involves more work than a casual flick of a camera shutter.

This became apparent Saturday in a sort of behind-the-scenes tour of activities of Patricia Stevens models. Milwaukee, who were in Appleton from 10 a.m. until 3:15 p.m.

Preliminary and clean-up work involved even more work hours on the part of Appleton stores and newspaper personnel. Arrangements were made to use the Music-Drama center and Worcester Art center of Lawrence college. Armed with advance information, store personnel gathered new fall wardrobe items to be ready for the models when they arrived.

Models spent Saturday morning fitting their various fashion choices and matching hats, purses, shoes and other accessories. This meant visiting several shops and departments of cooperating merchants, who in turn delivered the fashions to the two prearranged locations and picked up the merchandise after the picture taking was completed.

Afternoon Shooting

Four Post-Crescent photographers, a staff artist and editorial staff member worked with two Patricia Stevens fashion coordinators for two and 10 youngsters from the hours in the afternoon to get the fashion shots. Indoor and outdoor backgrounds had to be chosen, the models had to be posed, quick changes of wardrobe made, the lighting checked and clothing arranged before pictures were actually photographed. The models seemed to be having a wonderful time. Their training showed up immediately as they changed poses, smiled or gestured on command. The 10 young women and one 12-year-old girl are among the 20 young adults Post and 12-year-old Gillen Dahl.

Mr. Universe Star Of 'Hercules,' Film On Ancient Hero

A lowering figure of ancient legend will come to life Wednesday when the movie, "Hercules," opens at the Appleton theater.

Cast in the title role is muscular Steve Reeves, handsome young star who has won scores of awards for his masculine physique. He has been named Mr. Pacific, Mr. America, Mr. World, Mr. Universe and was given the French title of the World's Handsomest Athlete.

As the mighty Hercules, Reeves strangles the raging Nemean lion, kills the Cretan bull, voyages to the island of Colchis where savage dragons guard the priceless Golden Fleece. He ventures among the Amazons, savage warrior women of great stature and beauty. The famous temple of Jolco is crumbled by a single blow by the mighty fighter.

Sylvia Koscina, co-star with Reeves in the role of Iole. Gianna Marie Cannile plays Antea, the queen of the Amazons. Both are Italian actresses.

Q. I had a social security card back in 1937 and carried it until 1940. I got my card in the state of New York and lost it. Do I have to write back to New York in order to get another card?

A. You should contact the nearest social security office and complete another application for a social security card. After the records are checked, you will be issued a new card bearing your original social security number. The social security number originally issued to you is your individual number and should be used by you in all matters relating to social security.

Q. I worked 10 years and was told that I am fully insured under social security. I haven't worked since 1950 and do not expect to return to work. Will this affect my social security payment when I retire? I am not disabled.

A. Since you worked at least 10 years in employment covered by social security, you are guaranteed a benefit at 65. However, the amount of your benefit will be affected by your years of no work since an average of your earnings is used to compute your benefit. It is possible to drop out five years of "no earnings" but the rest of the years must be averaged. Since you will have more than five years in which you had no earnings, these years will lower your average and will result in a lower benefit to you.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 401 S. Elm street, Appleton.

Jimmy Durante Show
Scheduled Sept. 25
Burl Ives to Host 'Telephone Hour'
Oct. 23; 'Winterse' Slated Oct. 26

BY JINGO
Jimmy Durante will be supported by a musical cast of widely different talents in his first television show in three years, Friday, Sept. 25, on NBC-TV. Lawrence Welk, Sal Mineo, Bobby Darin and Gisele MacKenzie will be the guest stars. In addition, Ginny Tiu, a 5-year-old pianist from Hong Kong, will be featured.

Burl Ives will be both host and balladeer in "Telephone Hour's" Friday, Oct. 23, show on NBC-TV. Other artists who'll appear are Dolores Gray, Art Lund, Patrice Munsel, Brian Sullivan, Janis Paige, Johnny Cash, the American Ballet Theater and the 57-piece Bell Telephone orchestra. The Old West will be the theme and background for the show.

Don Murray, Piper Laurie and George C. Scott will star in Maxwell Anderson's "Winterse," the opening 14-hour colorcast of "Hall of Fame" Monday, Oct. 26, on NBC-TV. The same series has announced it will repeat "The Cradle Song" April 10, with Helen Hayes, Judith Anderson and Siobhan McKenna starred.

Miss Hayes replaces the late Evelyn Varden of the original cast. The cast for "Hall of Fame's" production of "The Tempest," slated Feb. 3, includes Maurice Evans, Richard Burton, Roddy McDowall, Tom Poston, Liam Redmond and Lee Remick.

"Startime... TV's Finest Hour" is the title for NBC-TV's Tuesday night hour special which premieres Oct. 6 with Rosalind Russell and Eddie Hodges starred in "The Wonderful World of Entertainment." This series has Alec Guinness signed to star in "The Crime of Jebel Deeks," story of a mild-mannered bank clerk who devises a Robin Hood-type of scheme to defraud his employer.
